According To IRS
Hancock Has 33
Betting Stamps,
107 For Devices

Thirty-three federal wagering tax stamps and 107 federal tax stamps for gambling devices were issued to individuals and organizations in Hancock County, according to Internal Revenue Service records at Parkersburg.

They were among 227 wagering stamps — at $50 each — issued in West Virginia this fiscal year.

The IRS records also show that 960 stamps for gambling devices such as slot machines and pinball machines with a cash payoff have been issued to West Virginians at $250 each.

A pinball machine which pays off in free games requires only a $10 amusement device stamp.

Ohio County (Wheeling) leads the list in the number of gaming device stamps issued with 159.

Of the wagering stamps, one was issued to a New Cumberland woman and 32 to individuals in Weirton. None was issued to persons in the Chester-Newell area.

Of the tax stamps for gambling devices, 10 were issued to persons or groups in Chester, nine in the Chester area, 10 in Newell, nine in the New Cumberland area and 69 in Weirton and area.

The wagering tax stamp in New Cumberland was obtained by Cora Turley of S. Chester St.

Here is a list of the holders of stamps for devices:

Sets 7 Tonight In Compliance With U.S. Court Action

NEW YORK (AP) — The International Longshoremen's Association, AFL-CIO, ordered its 60,000 striking dockworkers to return to work at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports at 7 p.m. today, New York time.

The move complied with a federal court restraining order Thursday night halting the strike for 10 days in the national interest.

Before the meeting of union officials to set in motion the machinery for obeying U.S. Dist. Judge Frederick van Fleet Bryan's order, ILA President Thomas W. Gleason said: "We all went out together and we'll all go back together."

The judge acted on a declaration of national emergency by President Johnson.

The order was signed after the customary 3 p.m. hour of "shaping up" the dock gangs for the following day's work. Union officials said this hiring practice was the reason for the delay in bringing the piers back to life.

Some pickets showed up at New York docks this morning, saying they had not received orders from their union shop stewards to pull down picket lines.

A little later the union notified all ports to withdraw pickets and stand by for return-to-work instructions.

There were indications that waterfront activity would not fully return to normal until Monday because shipping and stevedoring firms would have to pay premium rates for work done tonight or during the weekend.

The regular work day in New York started at 8 a.m. — just 12 hours after the judge signed the papers aimed at an 80-day cool-down.

Thousands Flee Low-Lying Sections

'Hilda' Shifts Course, Aims Fury
At Louisiana's Deserted Marshes

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Hurricane Hilda shifted her course toward the north early today and aimed the fury of her 150 mile-an-hour winds at the deserted marshlands of the Louisiana coast.

With previous killer hurricanes as a grim reminder, thousands fled the low-lying sections of Louisiana for the safety of the interior.

Hilda — most severe hurricane this season — altered its course from northwest to north-northwest near daybreak and lashed at the offshore oil rigs.

Rising tides were forecast all along the Louisiana coast with Cameron — where Hurricane Audrey killed more than 500 in 1957 — reporting a 3.5-foot swell.

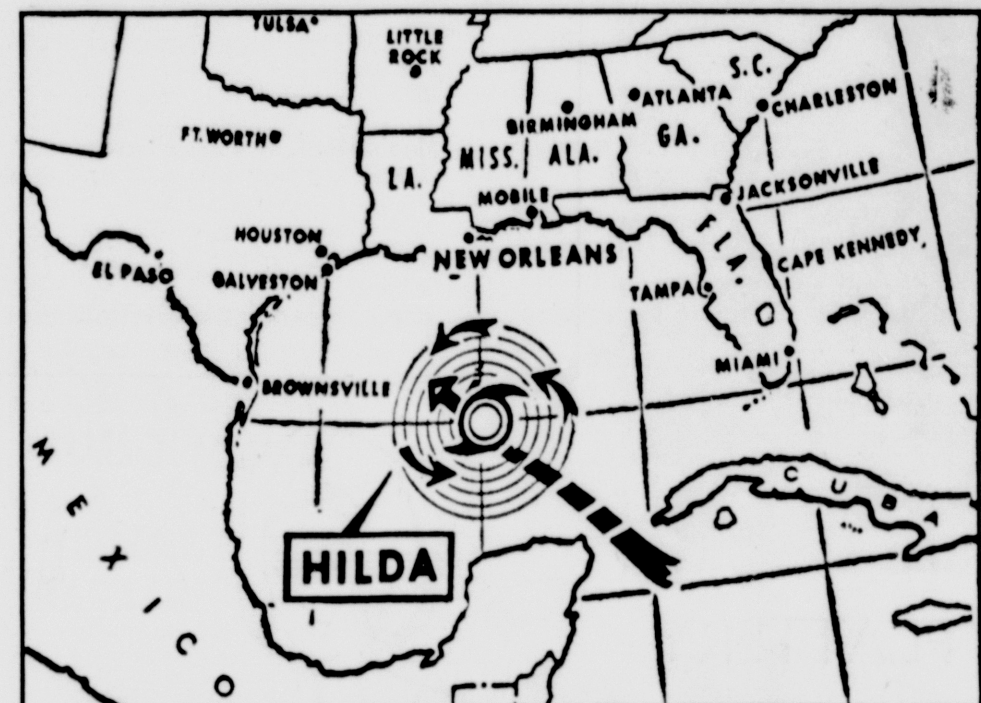

At 6 a.m. CST, the New Orleans Weather Bureau said Hilda's center was 260 miles south-southwest of New Orleans.

That means that the nearest point of land to Hilda was Marsh Island, a wild life refuge about 230 miles to the north.

Hilda — first Gulf hurricane this year — crept forward at 7 m.p.h.

The northward turn had been predicted by forecasters in New Orleans.

The latest advisory said Hilda's eye — the calm center which spins out howling winds at 150 m.p.h. — would continue moving north-northwestward during the next few hours and

Congress Members
Exhibit Zest To Get
On Campaign Trail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two key administration measures — aid to the aged ill and to the Appalachia poor — may be brushed aside as Congress sprints toward adjournment.

The reapportionment rider already has been yanked from the foreign aid bill.

As if flipping the calendar page to October made them suddenly aware of how fast election day is approaching, members of Congress are exhibiting a sudden zest to get their work done and get out on the campaign trail.

But when they will close up shop — and whether they will be called back to Washington after Nov. 3 — is a mystery at this point.

Before the House today is $4.25 billion worth of appropriations, and once this fiscal year is blown it will be hard to hold the members — all of whom must stand re-election if they want to stay in Congress — in Washington.

To complete the fiscal work of the long 1964 session, the House is being asked to vote on a $1-billion supplemental money bill for the added requirements of several government agencies and on the Senate version of a $3.25-billion foreign aid appropriation.

The authorization which sets the ceiling for this spending cleared a conference of House and Senate members Thursday night stripped of all reference to Supreme Court-ordered reapportionment of state legislatures. It was a long fight over this aid bill rider which tied up the Senate for weeks and helped prolong the session.

If the full House and Senate give their approval to what the conferees did, the small band of

Evans Wins Suit For Ballot Place

The Hancock County commissioner's dilemma was resolved Thursday by the West Virginia State Supreme Court after four months of argument and legal maneuvers in the county.

Overtaking a recent ruling by county ballot commissioners, the State Supreme Court chose Jack Evans of New Cumberland over Squire John S. Bryan Jr. of Pughtown as the legal Democratic nominee for an unexpired term on County Court.

Evans, a painting contractor, was awarded a ballot place in the Nov. 3 election, paired against Republican Albert (Jack) Fucy for county commissioner from Clay District.

At stake are the four years remaining in the term of County Commissioner Robert E. Roach, who died last May 23. Bryan, 36, an employee of Weirton Steel Co., was the candidate of the old Hancock Democratic Executive Committee headed by Dick Wright of Chester.

Evans was the candidate of the new Democratic Executive Committee of Atty. Edward A. Zagula of Weirton, who defeated Wright for the party chairmanship.

County Ballot Commissioners Paul Clunk (D) and Curt Wallace (R) of Chester had honored the old committee's choice, voting to award the ballot place to Squire Bryan.

Evans is now filing the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Roach. He was appointed to the interim post by Gov. W. W. Barron after County Commissioners William C. Graham of Chester and James Finley of Weirton could not reach accord on naming Mr. Roach's successor.

Boy, Match,

Chester Fire

A little boy, a discarded match and a candle usually spell trouble and this held true at a Chester home Thursday afternoon.

The 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Whittaker Jr., 229 Indiana Ave., found a match discarded on the sidewalk, and apparently discovered a candle about the same time.

He advised his mother later that "Daddy's pants hanging in the closet upstairs are on fire."

Mrs. Whittaker said she assumes the tot lit the match to the candle in the linen closet of the bathroom upstairs, where a fire started and spread to the upstairs bedroom.

Equipment in her beauty shop downstairs and the kitchen were saved from damage, but the bathroom was damaged heavily along with the bedroom, the ceiling of the livingroom, and wall-to-wall carpet downstairs when water leaked through the ceiling.

Rifle and shotgun shells stored in the closet exploded in the fire. Chester volunteer firemen were called at 4:05 and set damage to the two-story frame dwelling at $3,000.

No one was hurt. Whittaker was at work at Crucible Steel Co. in Midland and two other children were on their way home from school at the time.

There was heavy smoke and water damage to some parts of the home.

Wellsville Mishap

Five student nurses in the City Hospital Training School were injured when a special bus returning them from Steubenville slammed into the rear of a tractor-trailer rig at 8th and Main Sts. in Wellsville Thursday afternoon at 4:45.

The driver of the bus containing 31 passengers also was hurt, along with the operator of the rig.

Most seriously hurt were Andrew Holtz, 53, of Follansbee, driver of the bus, and Phyllis Paul, 20, resident of the Metcher Nursing Home, who were in "fair" condition today at City Hospital.

Wellsville police said the northbound bus crashed into the rear of the rig driven by Robert L. Buckley of East Liverpool R.D. 1, driving for American Vitified Products Co.

Police said Holtz claimed the rig had no stop lights, but Buckley said he was slowing for traffic ahead and was not using the brake lights on his rig.

Holtz was charged with following too closely.

Goldwater Raps
Johnson On Visit

WITH GOLDWATER IN ILLINOIS (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater rode his whistle-stopping train into Illinois today with a fresh assault on President Johnson as a "Lyndon-come-lately," just discovering a disarray in U.S. alliances.

The Republican presidential nominee, proclaiming himself a man of "peace through strength," criticized Johnson's announced intention to visit Europe after the November election to confer with heads of North Atlantic Treaty Organization states about mutual defense problems.

"I have news for Lyndon-come-lately," Goldwater said in remarks prepared for a Cairo, Ill., audience. "There is one thing that can be done to help NATO. Elect a president of the United States who believes in NATO, who wants to rebuild NATO — and reject the President who didn't even act as though he knew NATO existed until Republicans forced him to act differently."

Fresh from a rousing campaign rally in Hammond, Ind., where so-called white backlash against the progress of Negro integration presumably may affect the November election results, Goldwater had avoided any mention either there or other stops in Ohio or Indiana of the civil rights issue.

The Republican nominee scoffed at what he termed Johnson's "rigged society" proposals.

He said: "How wrong can a man be? Lyndon-come-lately may not realize it, but this America of ours has been a

Former Residents
Seek To Establish Franchise Rights

Although civilian absentee and disabled voters' ballots for the Nov. 3 general election will not be available until Monday, problems connected with their issuance already have created one of the biggest headaches in years for the County Election Board.

Because of the usual Presidential year rush, the board already has on file 130 requests for application forms, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, explained.

The principal headache has arisen through efforts to obtain Ohio absentee ballots on the part of former residents. Having recently established legal residences in other states — particularly Florida — and then finding that they are not qualified to vote under that state's laws, the ex-residents seek to obtain absentee ballots in Ohio, O'Hanlon said.

"Some of them have commented to me: 'You can't deprive me of my right to vote,'" O'Hanlon said. "But I always reply that they deprived themselves of the right to vote. Having moved outside the state of Ohio, they are now subject to another state's election law — not ours."

O'Hanlon pointed out the civilian absentee voters' ballots will be available for persons who will be unavoidably absent from Columbiana County and at least 10 miles from their home precinct on Election Day.

The disabled voters' ballots are available for those unable to get to the polls because of illness or physical disability. The application form must be accompanied by a physician's certificate giving the facts on the illness or disability.

Both types of civilian ballots will be issued until Oct. 29 at Wilkinson said the number of delinquents represents an estimate, as the office staff still is processing mail received at the deadline. Payments postmarked Wednesday will be accepted without penalty, he said.

Shoppers and businessmen were notified today by Don Eckert, chairman of the City Planning Commission, that the first personal interviews will be launched next week in the task of gathering data for preparation of an East Liverpool "master plan."

"If a stranger encounters you on the street and begins asking questions about your shopping habits or your place of business — co-operate," Eckert asked. "He or she probably will be a member of the local civic organization working as a volunteer to gather data for the 'master plan'."

A study of shoppers in the central business district is scheduled as the first phase of a continuing series of surveys. The interviews will be conducted by members of the Business & Professional Women's Club. They expect to talk with representative shoppers on a Thursday night and again on a Saturday.

A survey of businessmen will be made by members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Water Repair Request Seen Slightly Late

Some water department customers appeared in Safety Service Director Robert E. Vodrey's office late Thursday afternoon with what appeared to be a routine request.

They said their water service lines needed replacement and they thought the state or the city should foot the bill because the fault was caused by some work which the State Highway Department had done on the street.

The director gathered the essential facts and then explained that the water department is outside his province. He accompanied the customers to the office of Supt. Donald T. Duke of the Board of Public Utilities. The utility board administers both the water and sewage departments.

The customers explained the facts again to Duke. After listening to the story, he pointed out the department's rule that a service line is the responsibility of the customer, not the city. The service line is the pipe that runs from the main to the customer's home.

"By the way, exactly when did this damage occur as a result of the state's project?" Duke asked. By this time it was nearly 5 p. m.

"Why, it was in 1931 when the Highway Department graded down part of 3rd St. as part of a resurfacing project," the customers said.

Duke explained that the request for repair was just about 33 years too late!

ing off period to allow time for further efforts to break the three-month deadlock in negotiations on a new contract.

Union leaders, however, did not immediately issue back-to-work orders to the men, who struck at midnight Wednesday. A spokesman for Gleason said he would call a meeting of union officials this morning to make preparations to get the men back on the job in the Port of New York.

In some other ports, Monday was considered the most likely time for resumption of work. In still other ports, union officials said work might resume today or tonight.

Sign-carrying pickets began disappearing from the waterfront as word of the court order got around.

Judge Bryan's order restraining the strike is good for 10 days. Bryan scheduled a hearing for next Thursday on the government's request for a preliminary injunction ordering an 80-day cooling-off period under the Taft-Hartley Act. The 80 days presumably would include the time starting at 8 o'clock Thursday night.

If no agreement is reached by the end of 80 days, the longshoremen will be legally free to resume the strike.

Judge Bryan said the order was necessary to remove "a peril to the national health and safety."

A negotiations deadlock over threatened loss of jobs through automation in the loading and unloading of cargo was a major factor leading to the strike. The employers seek to reduce the 20-man work gangs by at least three. They contend modern cargo handling methods justify the cut.

32 Hurt When Police, Nationalists Clash

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Thirty-two persons were injured Thursday night in a street battle between police and Irish nationalists after officers removed the Irish Republic's flag from a building.

It was the worst outbreak of violence in recent years in British-ruled Northern Ireland. Fifteen demonstrators were arrested.

The injured included 20 policemen.

Farmer Unit Ends Boycott

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The National Farmers Organization which had been striving for 43 days to halt the marketing of livestock in a drive for higher prices ended its holding action Thursday night.

But Oren Lee Staley of Rea, Mo., the NFO president said that it was only a recess in the controversial farm group's effort to gain bargaining power on prices with meat processors.

The boycott, which started Aug. 20, was the longest in a series of such moves. Effective in 23 states on cattle, hogs and sheep, it was marked by violent incidents in the Midwest. Two NFO men were killed when a cattle truck hit them at a loading station in Wisconsin.

Except for a flurry of short supplies during the early days of the boycott the major terminal livestock markets reported little effect on receipts or prices.

But Staley charged: "Reported receipts figures tabulated by processors and marketing interests during the holding action have been ridiculous."

"Each holding action has been much stronger than the last," he said. "Many more farmers have joined the NFO."

No one would say how much livestock NFO men now will be sending to market and what the impact on prices will be. The organization does not disclose its membership.

Staley cautioned members not to dump their supplies. At Chicago Thursday cattle and hog prices were about the same as before Aug. 20 and were around $6 a hundredweight under minimums the NFO sought.

The drive, which will open with a kickoff session Monday afternoon at the YMCA, will be conducted through Nov. 5 on the theme, "One Gift Works Many Wonders."

Contributions will be sought primarily through payroll deductions, eliminating the inconvenience of house-to-house solicitations, officials point out.

The United Fund effort with its combined drive aspects is a more efficient, less expensive method of providing funds to support the agencies which are serving the community's programs for young people and those with special needs, sponsors said.

Mrs. Ruth Crawford of Pope Ave., secretary to Mayor Merrill Hall, is as publicity director for the campaign.

Water Repair Request Seen Slightly Late

Some water department customers appeared in Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vorey's office late Thursday afternoon with what appeared to be a routine request.

They said their water service lines needed replacement and they thought the state or the city should foot the bill because the fault was caused by some work which the State Highway Department had done on the street.

The director gathered the essential facts and then explained that the water department is outside his province. He accompanied the customers to the office of Supt. Donald T. Duke of the Board of Public Utilities. The utility board administrators both the water and sewage departments.

The customers explained the facts again to Duke. After listening to the story, he pointed out the department's rule that a service line is the responsibility of the customer, not the city. The service line is the pipe that runs from the main to the customer's home.

"By the way, exactly when did this damage occur as a result of the state's project?" Duke asked. By this time it was nearly 5 p. m.

"Why, it was in 1931 when the Highway Department graded down part of 3rd St. as part of a resurfacing project," the customers said.

Duke explained that the request for repair was just about 33 years too late!

Strike

ing off period to allow time for further efforts to break the three-month deadlock in negotiations on a new contract.

Union leaders, however, did not immediately issue back-to-work orders to the men, who struck at midnight Wednesday.

A spokesman for Gleason said he would call a meeting of union officials this morning to make preparations to get the men back on the job in the Port of New York.

In some other ports, Monday was considered the most likely time for resumption of work. In still other ports, union officials said work might resume today or tonight.

Sign-carrying pickets began disappearing from the waterfront as word of the court order got around.

Judge Bryan's order restraining the strike is good for 10 days. Bryan scheduled a hearing for next Thursday on the government's request for a preliminary injunction ordering an 80-day cooling-off period under the Taft-Hartley Act. The 80 days presumably will include the time starting at 8 o'clock Thursday night.

If no agreement is reached by the end of 80 days, the longshoremen will be legally free to resume the strike.

Judge Bryan said the order was necessary to remove "a peril to the national health and safety."

A negotiations deadlock over threatened loss of jobs through automation in the loading and unloading of cargo was a major factor leading to the strike. The employers seek to reduce the 20-man work gangs by at least three. They contend modern cargo handling methods justify the cut.

Farmer Unit Ends Boycott

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The National Farmers Organization which had been striving for 43 days to halt the marketing of livestock in a drive for higher prices ended its holding action Thursday night.

But Oren Lee Staley of Rea, Mo., the NFO president said that it was only a recess in the controversial farm group's effort to gain bargaining power on prices with meat processors.

The boycott, which started Aug. 20, was the longest in a series of such moves. Effective in 23 states on cattle, hogs and sheep, it was marked by violent incidents in the Midwest. Two NFO men were killed when a cattle truck hit them at a loading station in Wisconsin.

Except for a flurry of short supplies during the early days of the boycott the major terminal livestock markets reported little effect on receipts or prices.

But Staley charged: "Reported receipts figures tabulated by processors and marketing interests during the holding action have been ridiculous."

"Each holding action has been much stronger than the last," he said. "Many more farmers have joined the NFO."

No one would say how much livestock NFO men now will be sending to market and what the impact on prices will be. The organization does not disclose its membership.

Staley cautioned members not to dump their supplies. At Chicago Thursday cattle and hog prices were about the same as before Aug. 20 and were around $6 a hundredweight under minimums the NFO sought.

is the Columbian Boy Scout Council executive.

The drive, which will open with a kickoff session Monday afternoon at the YMCA, will be conducted through Nov. 5 on the theme, "One Gift Works Many Wonders."

Contributions will be sought primarily through payroll deductions, eliminating the inconvenience of house-to-house solicitations, officials point out.

The United Fund effort with its combined drive aspects is a more efficient, less expensive method of providing funds to support the agencies which are serving the community's programs for young people and those with special needs, sponsors said.

Mrs. Ruth Crawford of Pope Ave., secretary to Mayor Merrill Hall, is as publicity director for the campaign.

The agencies served include the Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Chester - Newell Girl Scouts, East Liverpool and North Hancock County Red Cross, Salvation Army, YMCA, Business & Professional Women's Child Clinic, the Child Counseling Center, Cerebral Palsy, USO and Recreation Council.

School Plans Report Given

George Hargraves, assistant superintendent, reported on progress of the school building program at the initial meeting of the term for the City Federation of Parent - Teacher Organizations Thursday night at Westgate School library.

The group authorized a vote of thanks to Supt. Paul Blair for his personal efforts on behalf of the school bond issue which was approved at a special election last month for construction of four new schools.

John Parsons, president, presided for business and Mrs. Kenneth Galas, program chairman, presented Carl A. Werner, general secretary of the YMCA, who spoke on the origins of the organization and other aspects of the Y program. Copies of the federation's program for the new term were distributed by Parsons.

Congress Never Lay Awake

In the appendix of the Warren Commission's report on the Kennedy assassination, the background of the problem of presidential security is filled in.

Congress never lay awake worrying about this problem. Everything it has done has been a reaction following an assassination or an attempted assassination.

Presidents have been left to their own devices to keep themselves and their families safe until recently. In the early days of the Republic, they had no protection whatever.

Congress had the feeling then, and it still persists, that the chief executive of the nation should be as much as possible like other citizens; i.e., representatives and senators.

Presidents who stirred intense feeling like Andrew Jackson and Abraham Lincoln lived in constant danger. Both were assaulted by madmen, and Lincoln was killed. Every president has been in danger, though only four have been killed. Harry Truman, Franklin Roosevelt, Theodore Roosevelt and Andrew Jackson narrowly escaped death.

Whether the record would have looked better had it not been for the traditional jealousy between the legislative and executive branches is uncertain. Perhaps every president has had approximately as much protection as he needed in his time in history. Perhaps there is no way to protect a president of the United States, short of keeping him away from public view.

This may explain why Congress always promises to do something when an assassination puts it on the defensive, then frequently does nothing of any real use. It knows how futile it would be to protect a president absolutely.

Dedicated Officer

When Lt. Clyde W. Boso retired Thursday, the East Liverpool police department lost one of the most conscientious, dedicated officers ever to wear its uniform.

His work always was distinguished by the courtesy with which he treated the public and the doggedness with which he tackled any problem that confronted him—large or small.

A veteran of 30 years' service, he was an officer of the old school who adjusted his thinking and his methods to keep up with the times.

He always was available to counsel young officers on the thankless work of a policeman. And he was noted for common-sense, "dutch uncle" lectures to adults as well as teen-agers.

As he steps into retirement, Lt. Boso leaves his record as an example that any young officer would do well to emulate.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

The news that Red China has completed and is about to test a bomb such as was dropped by the United States on Japan in 1945 comes as a shock to most people in the world. It has been often said this development was inevitable. Scientists everywhere have predicted that, given the necessary materials, any country could produce not only atomic bombs but also hydrogen bombs as well as intercontinental missiles. The big question has always been—when?

Present estimates from authoritative sources indicate that five years hence Red China could have a stockpile somewhat like that currently possessed by France.

In years from now it could have hydrogen bombs and nuclear warheads that could be used on medium-range missiles relatively close to what Russia has today.

In 15 years, Red China could have a full-fledged arsenal of intercontinental ballistic missiles capable of striking the United States.

But what happens within the next 15 years? Do the American people merely shrug off the news and hope that with the passage of time some solution will be found?

Is there to be a period of drifting, or will world opinion demand that the nuclear problem be given immediate consideration in an effort to find some way to avert a world catastrophe.

FOR THE MOMENT, the big danger lies in the Far East, where possession of nuclear bombs by Red China will generate a wave of fear and apprehension in Japan, the Philippines and Southeast Asia.

Once the leaders of Red China make up their minds to dominate the Asian world by threatening to use nuclear weapons, they could apply a pressure to which the response might well be appeasement and continuous concessions.

Where will Russia be in all this? It, too, may some day be menaced by Red China. The Soviet government five years ago gave a reactor to the Peiping government for peaceful uses. That is how plutonium, which is the basic ingredient in the bomb, has been produced.

The United States, it will be recalled, did the same thing when it furnished 50 reactors of a peaceful nature to more than 30 countries and boasted about it as a measure looking toward world peace.

But at the same time, strict agreements were entered into to permit inspection and verification of the use of the reactors furnished to the various countries abroad.

GREAT BRITAIN has nuclear bombs but is largely dependent on American strength to defend its people.

President de Gaulle, unable to get help comparable to that which Britain received from this country, has decided to go along on his own and is now engaged in developing a nuclear arsenal for France.

North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries have been told the United States will furnish protection with nuclear weapons. But there is a big debate going on as to how an American president can be depended upon to give the word in time to save Europe from being overrun by land armies with small tactical nuclear weapons.

When the current election campaign is over, doubtless more information will be disclosed as to the measures the United States will take to prevent such contingencies.

A far larger question than the use of tactical nuclear weapons in land warfare now has arisen since Secretary of State Rusk decided to tell the world this government has obtained information about the forthcoming test of an atomic bomb by Red China.

The purpose in issuing this statement was undoubtedly to warn the world of the dangers ahead and perhaps to begin to find a way to bring Red China into an international understanding to ban the use of nuclear weapons.

Speculation has begun as to what impact the announcement will have on the Soviet Union whose territory borders on Red China. Some diplomats are guessing Peiping would be tempted to threaten the use of the atomic bomb and to give an impression of growing strength.

Others think possession of the bomb may make Red China more cautious and that the real reason for developing a nuclear capability is to gain a leverage in diplomacy which otherwise would be unavailable.

CERTAINLY it isn't sensible for any nation with a limited supply of nuclear weapons to engage in a reckless attack and thus invite "massive retaliation."

Japan, the Philippines, Thailand and other countries in Southeast Asia will probably have to be given immediate protection such as NATO members enjoy—that is, a provision that an attack on any Southeast Asian nation would be considered also to be an attack on the United States and other Allied countries.

The forthcoming test does not mean Red China will achieve immediately a position of commanding strength.

It does mean the rest of the world is now being alerted by Secretary Rusk's announcement to the importance of dealing at once with the problems that the world must not allow to go unsolved during the next 15 years while Red China is building up nuclear strength.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO—Five Midland students were selected as members of the 100-piece midwestern Pennsylvania's high school band—Eugene Meek, John Fantone, Betty DeFuff, Walter Ekhart and Eugene Herron.

Lucetta Golden was named noble grand of the Smith Ferry Maid of Indian Rocks Rebekah Lodge.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—Mayor Arnold W. Devon announced that a curfew would be sounded nightly at 8 requiring children to be off the streets.

Nathan Lorah, faculty manager, announced that the total attendance at the first two home football games of East Liverpool High School was 8,500.

Miss Nell Robinson, superintendent at City Hospital, served as one of the hostesses during the 11th convocation of the American College of Hospital Administrators in Cleveland.

World Alerted To Red China's Threat

A Day To Remember

U.S. Has Stake In British Election

By VICTOR RIESEL

Some of us who have been in London recently believe that Americans have almost as big a stake in the election battle between the British Labor Party and the Conservatives as we have in the national political s weepstakes here at home.

Insiders know that during off-the-record conversations in both the United States and United Kingdom capitals, British Socialist (Labor Party) leaders have frankly warned they will support Fidel Castro's government and help it prosper.

Furthermore, if the English Socialists take power on Oct. 15, they will back sweeping social revolutions throughout the Caribbean and Latin America, the Labor Party spokesman on foreign affairs has let it be known.

THIS SPOKESMAN, the foreign minister in Harold Wilson's pre-election "shadow cabinet," is the 57-year-old, blunt-talking Patrick Gordon Walker, who is "standing" for election to Parliament in the industrial section known as Smethwick, a suburb of Birmingham, England.

He first gave warning of British Socialist support for Latin-American revolutions when he was in Washington early this year.

At that time he briefed several small groups of American political figures, some of whom are now in the headlines daily.

Unabashed he also passed on the sentiments of his Socialist Party to Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert McNamara.

The Englishman said frankly to these groups that his comrades believed revolutions would sweep Latin America and that they were necessary.

GORDON WALKER averred that these revolts would be ugly and violent at the beginning. He added that they probably would be Castroist or Communist and anti-U.S. at first.

But because he and his fellow British Socialists, who may take over the government shortly, think the social revolutions will someday develop into peaceful and democratic regimes, the British Labor Party would support them even in the violent beginning.

When he returned to London from Washington after these private talks, some of his fellow "Shadow" leaders believed he had talked too much, too soon, though they did not disagree with him.

It was their opinion he should not have taken such an outspoken position before the general election.

BUT NO ONE chides Patrick Gordon Walker—privately or publicly—so he went unadmonished. He did not mute his theme when he hit the hustings and spoke at meetings of regional Labor Party and union groups rarely covered by the international press.

Gordon Walker has constantly said of us, as though talking of a sophomore, spoiled child, that we feel too intense about Cuba and really don't understand international affairs.

The general attitude of the British Labor Party's Socialist leaders towards Cuba and Communist revolutions is tolerance, patience and willingness to let "prosperity" whittle away at such regimes as Castro's, Mao's and Ho Chi Minh's.

We are too impatient, say the London Socialist. What if it takes 40 or 50 years, they ask over the inevitable afternoon tea.

THEY SPEAK even more openly of our intolerance of Communist China. Gordon Walker has said in Parliament and at campaign meetings recently that if the British Labor Party takes power, the London government will actively pressure Washington in an effort to recognize Peking, China.

The British Socialists have pledged themselves to an all-out drive to get the Mao government into the United Nations.

"The time has come," said Gordon Walker in the Commons, "to go forward and establish full diplomatic relations with China and do all we can and use all our influence to get China into the United Nations."

Not much of this filters back into the U.S., though the hardly subliminal impression of all this is anti-American. So are many of the pre-election talks by the British Labor Party leaders on domestic affairs.

GORDON WALKER's chief, Harold Wilson, now generalissimo of the intense Socialist campaign forces, has frequently lashed out at what he has called U.S. economic imperialism.

Wilson was particularly incensed when the Ford company bought control of the big plant at Dagenham and the Chrysler Corp. bought heavily into a firm called Rootes. He has attacked the Conservatives for permitting these transactions.

It is all part of the British Socialists' offensive against industry. During the campaign weeks they are putting their tough nationalization policy in a velvet public relations cloth.

Such leaders as Wilson and his shadow cabinet economic czar-to-be, the white-hot-tempered George Brown, are saying publicly that they will only nationalize steel and road transport.

BUT PRIVATELY the British Socialists of influence say that Mr. Brown plans a "wealth tax" and has plans for government control of land as well.

The actual tip-off on the Socialist policy comes from the British union chiefs who run the mighty Trades Union Congress.

They want nationalization of shipbuilding, aircraft, waterways, electrical engineering and hundreds of big companies, especially those which get government contracts—as well as socialization of steel and trucking.

They also want the government to go into business in competition with many private industrialists.

What they want counts, because they pay 90 per cent of the bills of the British Labor Party. They are not enamored of American investments in their home country.

Indeed, the U.S. has quite a stake in that other election.

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

In The Review was an article praising the Glenmoor and La-Croft fire departments for finding two small boys.

We have been connected with the fire department for years. It is not an easy life for the men or their families.

We have very efficient departments in all tri-state communities. These men take their lives in their own hands virtually every time there is a call.

We also have wonderful police departments. Police work also is dangerous.

We would like to thank them for the service they gave us, also Probation Officer Miller and Judge Tobin.

Please remember if these men make a mistake they are human beings, the same as you and I. They are ready to serve at all times.

Problem May Be Self-Solving

The American Society of Newspaper Editors has been more concerned about mass coverage of newsworthy events than the Warren Commission, or any other group that deplores mob scenes like the one in Dallas the Sunday morning last November when Jack Ruby killed Lee Harvey Oswald.

It is not surprising to find the society responding favorably through an Interim report of a subcommittee of its Freedom of Information Committee to a proposal for restricting coverage of events where too many press, radio, television, magazine and miscellaneous personnel interfere with the orderly course of events.

For example, the transfer of Oswald last November in Dallas properly would have been "covered" by one TV camera crew from each national network and one reporter-photographer team from each news service, plus teams from the Dallas news media. Everything would have been orderly unless the Dallas police still had let Jack Ruby walk in. It wasn't the press that killed Oswald; it was Ruby.

So these discussions do get a little silly when people who report news get blamed for the news itself, but that's human nature. As long as newsmen are on the job they will be blamed, like the messengers of old who were beheaded if they brought bad news to the despot.

If news pooling catches on, as it will in some circumstances, the problem of mass coverage will be self-solving. What would be the point of sending people to the scene of the news if they couldn't do anything when they got there? Mass coverage would go out of fashion.

Everyone Can't Win

Another high school football weekend is at hand and the emotions that go with competition face another test.

When you're rooting for your team to win, there's certain to be a disappointing letdown when it loses. Spirits can't help but be low after the final whistle if the score favors the other fellow.

Being a poor sport, however, doesn't help things at all—neither you personally nor the school you represent.

Several letters—written by high school students—which have crossed our desk in the last two weeks have questioned the conduct of some students at some of the games in the district. Incidents such as spitting on windshields, hurling rocks, etc., have been mentioned and made the subject of disapproval.

Fortunately, they're isolated incidents. But it would be to the credit of our young people if the games this weekend found such incidents completely conspicuous by their absence.

It's tough to lose, but if you are on the wrong end of the score do your best to accept defeat gracefully. Always remember that next week it may be your turn to be on the winning side.

do something to keep itself from being pegged to a "cross of silver." And when that time comes, a substitute for silver in coinage will have to be found.

Or, to be precise, it will have to be acknowledged; it already has been found. It's beautiful stainless steel, long-lasting, ever-bright, easy to work, plentiful in supply and reassuring to the touch.

New Recognition

More recognition has come to the East Liverpool Quota Club, this time for receiving the membership award during the annual conference of the 6th District at Cincinnati.

More numbers in themselves some times mean little. But in view of the local organization's record, there is good reason to believe that the new members also will display the qualities associated with civic progressiveness.

By Truman Twill

A devotee of Autumn must learn about the fragrance of apples in wet cold grass at dawn.

He must know about the autumnal moon rising out of a black horizon fringed with pines.

It is necessary to be familiar with such delights as October mists, the nectar of ripe pears and the patina on a vine-ripened Concord grape.

He must understand the serenity of sunsets when the autumn equinox has passed and the next stopping point in solar experience is the winter solstice.

He must understand the pure delight of sleeping in a bountiful supply of uncorrupted air with a tingle to it.

THERE MUST BE appreciation of curled brown leaves on an expanse of green velvet in a shadowed grove. It is necessary to find exuberance in the perfect design of a harvested gourd, or a squat pumpkin offered for lantern-making at a roadside stand.

It is of the greatest importance that things like these should take precedence over all other sights and sounds—that even the great hush of the season when earth hesitates between receding life and approaching death should be a cause of joy and not of sorrow.

Words fail us, but we Autumn Rhapsodists know what we want to say. Autumn's the most. Absolutely.

What More Could You Want?

The coin shortage is one problem. Extreme measures are being taken to draw coins out of hiding and back into circulation.

It is obvious by this time that ballooning demand for hard money has caught the government with its coinage down. The country is learning about the consequences of gearing trade to vending machines, which take coins out of circulation faster than they can be fed back into circulation.

The other problem is a shortage of silver.

Before most of us were aware of public policy, U.S. coinage was tied up to silver production in an arrangement to appease the followers of William Jennings Bryan, the "boy orator" whose "cross of gold" speech put silver on the political map to stay.

It's still there, as the country will discover when eventually it is forced to

Rhapsodists

Most of us who claim membership in Autumn Rhapsodists Unlimited are at a loss for words to explain why we belong to this outfit.

There's no prestige involved; anyone can belong.

ARU has no lobby to wine, dine and bring other forms of pleasure to legislators on the take.

It has no publication to tell its members what to think.

It collects no dues to afford the luxuries of life to remote and unknown officers.

We might as well have joined Friends of the Chipmunk—FOC—for all we get out of affiliation with ARU.

But we are as dedicated in our special way as members of any of the other outfits scattered around this great Republic, and in our special way we do have no ax to grind.

WE DON'T care what ideology prevails next Nov. 3. October is for people, not politicians.

We couldn't care less whose foot ends up on whose neck, because struggling and grappling for power have no bearing on our interest.

Autumn Rhapsodist is single-mindedly devoted to enjoyment of late September, all of October and, in vintage years, part of November.

It must be seen and breathed and lived to be appreciated.

Congress

liberals who fought to uphold the Supreme Court's "one man-one vote" decision will have won an even larger victory than they expected.

For all that had remained of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen's proposal to delay for at least a year action on the Supreme Court's decision that both houses of state legislatures be apportioned purely on population was a mild "sense of Congress" declaration which would not have been binding.

It was designed to allow district courts, in their discretion, to (1) permit state legislatures up to six months to reapportion and (2) permit the next elections to state legislatures to be conducted on the basis of state laws in effect Sept. 20.

Now even this watered-down proposal appears dead.

Whatever faint hopes administration forces had that the plan to enact health care for the aged would be approved by this Congress were all but extinguished Thursday when a conference committee that has been trying to work out a compromise bill broke up in stalemate.

The chairman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., scheduled another session today. But Mills and other House conferees are adamantly opposed to the program.

The proposal for hospitalization benefits for persons retired under Social Security was added by the Senate to a House-passed bill increasing the basic Social Security retirement.

It appeared likely the committee will be asked to drop the health plan for this year and work out a compromise between the House scale of retirement benefits and the higher one voted by the Senate. These could go into effect before the end of the year.

The second major Johnson proposal still pending — the $1.06-billion Senate-passed bill to rehabilitate the Appalachia area — is a victim of absenteeism.

Administration forces are reluctant to put the controversial measure to a House vote without some certainty that enough of their troops are on hand to pass it.

LEETONIA — In the first Republican rally held in several decades in this traditional Democratic stronghold, Tom Ireland of Cleveland, author and spokesman for "conservatism," addressed about 200 Thursday night at the Orchard Hill School.

Members of the GOP Women's Club served refreshments.

Residents of Texas coastal areas, uncertain where Hilda would hit, poised to flee their homes.

At Beaumont, Tex., Sheriff R. E. Culbertson said 400 persons would be evacuated from Sabine Pass starting at 7 a.m., to prevent flood tides from cutting off roads to the interior.

Culbertson sent his deputies and civil defense workers from door to door during the night advising Sabine Pass residents to be ready to move at daybreak to evacuation centers in schools at Beaumont, Nederland and Port Arthur.

At Cameron — in the southwest corner of Louisiana — most residents were gone long before Sheriff O. B. Carter ordered complete evacuation.

"Come hell or high water, there will never be another Hurricane Audrey," said George Duris, 64, a Cameron farmer.

Duris was one of thousands of Cameron parish folks trapped by the high waters pushed ashore by Hurricane Audrey in the pre-dawn hours of June 27, 1957.

Duris survived but more than 500 of his friends and neighbors perished.

"All you have to do now is mention the word hurricane, and these people start packing up," Duris said in the safety of a Lake Charles hotel lobby, 30 miles north of Cameron.

It was the same story all along the Louisiana coast.

Schools in the Louisiana coastal regions were closed today and Nicholls State College at Thibodaux suspended classes.

103 Sign In Farm Plan In Hancock

About 103 Hancock County farmers signed up at the Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation office in New Cumberland before Wednesday for lime and other materials for winter cover practices to be carried out before Dec. 31.

Mrs. Norma Murray, office manager, said 32 farmers have already signed up for the 1964 wheat diversion program. There are 81 farmers in the county eligible for the diversion payments, and deadline for making application is today.

Ballots will be mailed county farmers in mid-November for the annual election of the ASC committee. Ballots are to be returned by Dec. 1, and the results will be tabulated Dec. 4. The incumbent committee members are Carl Allison, chairman, Shields Mayhew and Plummer Smith.

Mrs. Murray reported the ASC office will be closed Oct. 26 - Nov. 6 while she attends a training program in Morgantown for two weeks.

After it is tabulated, the data will be turned over to Carroll V. Hill & Associates of Pittsburgh and Columbus, the concern holding the contract for preparation of the "master plan."

In the initial stages of the survey, questionnaires will be sent home to parents via the students in some schools. Other questionnaires will be distributed to church members in some instances through their ministers.

Eckert said the study should produce some useful data within six weeks.

The study of shoppers and businessmen is only the first part of a long series of interviews and surveys that will be made in gathering data for the "master plan," Eckert emphasized.

Stolen Midland Auto Demolished

A Midland man's car, apparently stolen from its parking place near an auto agency garage, was found virtually demolished early this morning on the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks near the new Midland-Shippingport bridge.

Police Chief Ed Steff said the thief apparently escaped injury when the auto plunged down the steep 20-foot embankment, landing on its roof just west of the bridge and blocking one track.

Officers were notified of the wrecked auto at 5:46 a.m. and called railroad authorities to halt trains until the car could be removed.

Chief Steff said police did not know the auto had been stolen until they contacted the owner, Jerry Lovejoy, 701 Virginia Ave.

Lovejoy told officers he had parked the car at a garage on Midland Ave. so it could be worked on this morning. The keys had been left in the 1962 Chevrolet Impala, the chief said.

Newspaper Clippings Tell Story Of War I

FREDERICKTOWN, Ohio — What is probably one of the most complete clipping histories of World War I is in a Fredericktown attic.

Charles B. Gifford, who spent much of his life managing hotels in New York, Cleveland, Chicago and Columbus, Ohio, compiled it from clippings from more than 100 newspapers and magazines of the period. The clippings are in 33 13½ x 18-inch volumes of 650 pages each. Twenty gallons of paste were required.

Gifford died in 1940. A son, M. T. Gifford, who has the collection in his attic, says: "Like my father, I want it to be preserved. I hope some large library or patriotic organization may find use for it."

Forms

4 p. m. To be counted at the polls on Election Day, they must be back in the board's hands by noon on Friday, Oct. 30.

The 130 application forms already requested will be dropped into the mail over the weekend so that the applicants will receive them on Monday, O'Hanlon said.

Since Sept. 4, the board has issued 589 so-called "soldier ballots" to personnel of the armed forces, their spouses and civilians residing temporarily outside the U. S. To qualify under the "soldier" law, a spouse must be residing outside Ohio for the purpose of being with his or her mate, O'Hanlon said.

He said the unusually large number of applications for both civilian and "soldier" ballots is an indication of a heavy vote in the general election.

The board has received so many applications for absentee ballots from persons who apparently are not qualified that it has prepared a form letter to answer them and explain the law.

"We wrote individual letters for a time, but the requests continued at such a rate that we had to draft a form letter that fitted the circumstances," O'Hanlon said. The letter says: "In reply to your request for absentee ballots for the Nov. 3 election, you are hereby advised that you are not legally qualified to vote in Ohio if you have moved to another state with the intention of residing there permanently."

"The fact that you have not resided the required period of time to qualify as an elector in your present location does not permit you to vote in Ohio as an absent elector."

"Ohio law permits what is known as temporary absence not to exceed three years but this does not apply if you are residing permanently in another state."

"Please advise if your status permits you to swear to an application attesting your permanent residence in Ohio."

O'Hanlon said many persons become aware of the law after giving up their residence in Ohio and establishing a home in another state. Learning that they have not been in their new state of residence long enough to qualify as a voter, they seek to obtain an Ohio absentee ballot, he explained.

But they're governed by the voting laws of the state in which they now reside, not the laws of Ohio, O'Hanlon pointed out.

"Each state has a right to enact its own voting laws," he said.

In addition, an applicant for an absentee ballot must swear he will be a legal resident of Ohio on Election Day, O'Hanlon explained. That forestalls the efforts of some other applicants who seek to vote an absentee ballot now, in advance of moving to a new legal residence outside the state, he pointed out.

The clerk pointed out a comparatively new Ohio law permits new residents of a state to vote for President and vice president only, provided they were qualified voters in the state in which they formerly resided. In those instances, only 40 days' of residence is required in Ohio prior to Election Day.

The prospective voter must go to the board's office in person and obtain an affidavit form which is executed by election officials in the state in which he formerly resided.

Many states now have similar laws, so that an Ohioan who moves to another state prior to Election Day still may have a right to vote, but only for President and vice president. However, Florida is not one of the states with the law on "short-term" voters. It requires a year's residence for a new voter.

great society ever since it began."

He suggested the President "has to wait for the latest poll to tell him what to do and what to say and what to think."

The Arizona senator said Johnson had only swung into action to bolster local law enforcement and to end the draft after Goldwater first had suggested such moves.

Fighting hard to rub out the "trigger-happy" label Democrats have tried to hang on him, the Republican presidential nominee pounded away on the theme that Democratic presidents have always occupied the White House in the 20th century when the country was involved in war.

Pronouncing Johnson "dead wrong" if he believes "peace will prevail if we are nice to the Communists," Goldwater said he and his running mate, Rep. William E. Miller, "certainly are men of peace." He added they would "never intentionally start an atomic war."

"If war ever comes, it will be because the Communists shoot first," the GOP nominee told a cheering, stamping, chanting crowd which overflowed the 6,000-seat Hammond Civic Auditorium Thursday night.

Quota Series To Start

Hunting Film Slated

Sasha Siemel and his color film lecture, "White Hunter of Brazil," will be the first in the Travel and Adventure Series to be presented by the Quota Club at 8 p. m. Tuesday at Westgate School.

Siemel is a tiger hunter, explorer, jungle guide, author, prospector, soldier of fortune and hero of the best selling books, "Green Hell" and "Tiger Man."

His hair-raising adventures are more than the exploits of an amateur sportsman. He is the only white man who hunts tigers for a living, armed only with a handmade spear. Ranchers in South America pay him to kill the tigers as they destroy the cattle.

His program is divided into two parts, the first concerns "The Man-eater," a rare type of tiger he tracks down and kills and "Jungle Family," the second part in which he tells of the experiences of his family who left the comfort and security of a home in Philadelphia for the life of adventure in Brazil.

Mrs. Laura Reinacher, chairman, announced tickets for the series of individual programs each Tuesday in October may be purchased at the door as well as from any club member.

Outdoor Stage Proposed For Thompson Park Use

A proposal to construct an outdoor stage and "shell" at Thompson Park as a center for presentation of musical shows and other programs was launched at a meeting of 20 interested civic leaders Thursday night in Mayor Merrill D. Hall's office.

Five committees were named to follow through on the project. Information gathered on the project will be presented at another meeting of the group soon.

Probate Judge Louis Tobin reported the Board of Thompson Park Commissioners has approved the plan unanimously.

A show of hands indicated that all 20 at the meeting also favored the project.

Mayor Hall and Vincent Maola, supervisor of instrumental music in the school system, explained the proposal for the amphitheater as the meeting opened. Later, they were named to co-ordinate investigation of the project.

The committees are: Finance: Robert E. Boyce, Dale Kidd, Fred Jackson, Mayor Hall and H. James Allison. Survey: Eric Young, Maola, Joseph Walters, park superintendent, Louis Yanni of the Park Board and Mayor Hall.

Publicity: Robert Hall, Atty. William H. Vodrey Jr. of the Park Board, Burchfield Cartwright, Councilman Donald Hancock and a representative from both The Review and WOHL.

Location: Judge Tobin, W. Leland Thompson of the Park Board, Maola, Councilman James Cunningham and Walters.

Labor: I. J. Vorndran and Frank C. Dawson.

The survey committee will contact individuals in Warren, New Philadelphia and Ashland, which already have similar shells. Its report will be presented at the next meeting, which will be announced.

Car Damages Fire Vehicle; Boy, 17, Cited

Three firemen escaped injury when a halted fire department station wagon was hit from the rear by an auto about noon Thursday on the River Rd. at Walnut St., police reported.

The 1959 model station wagon utilized as Chief Charles Bryan's car was struck by a 1958 model French import driven by Robert C. Humphrey, 17, of Park Way, officers said.

The youthful driver was cited into Juvenile Court as a traffic offender on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Fireman James Allmon, 28, was identified as the driver of the fire vehicle. His passengers were Asst. Chief Gerald Goodballet and Fireman Merle McShane, officers said.

The mishap dented the bumper of the city-owned vehicle and damaged the hood and bumper of the Humphrey auto.

Allmon told Patrolman Jerry Adkins he halted on the River Rd. to yield the right-of-way to a truck which was crossing the railroad tracks at Walnut St. Humphrey told the officer he thought the station wagon was moving. When he realized it was stopped, he was unable to halt in time and hit the station wagon in the rear, he said.

A Salineville man's car—last auto in a funeral procession—was damaged when hit from the rear Thursday at 2:50 p. m. on W. 8th St. 100 feet west of Lisbon St., officers said.

The collision damaged the rear of the 1959 two-door sedan driven by Delbert E. Miller, 32, of 122 High St., Salineville, and caused extensive damage to the front end of a 1953 two-door driven by William N. Lenhart, 86, of Youngstown, police said. Miller told Patrolmen Orin Smith and Samuel E. Hayes he was driving slowly because his was the last car in the cortege. His car then was hit by Lenhart's, moving in the same direction, he related.

Teen-Agers Returned To School Both Jobs And Jobless Declined In September

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employment and unemployment both showed expected, seasonal declines in September as approximately 1.7 million teen-agers left jobs to return to school.

The unemployment rate for the month — 5.2 per cent — was slightly higher than August's 5.1 per cent but below the 5.5 per cent registered last September.

Employment stood at 70.8 million, compared with 72.1 in August and 69.5 million last September.

Unemployment was 3.3 million, down 350,000 from August, and down 200,000 from last September. It was the lowest September unemployment total since 1959.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Preliminary test pictures relayed from Japan by the Syncom 3 communications satellite have boosted hopes for good U.S. reception for television shots of the Olympic Games, which open in Tokyo next week.

The satellite is hovering over the Pacific Ocean and is 22,300 miles in space.

Information Director Matthew Gordon of the Communications Satellite Corporation said Thursday the test transmission performance was "very good" considering Syncom was not originally designed for television relay.

COMSAT promised even better pictures for the formal inauguration on Tuesday of the trans-Pacific television space link, with the installation of highly refined specialized equipment flown from Tokyo to this country with a team of Japanese engineers.

Bringing Up Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Complaints Should Be Considered

Sometimes a child complains at home about his teacher — that she rebuked or punished him harshly, that she has been unfair to him, that she often picks on him. He may relate numerous instances which you don't consider wise or just or some that arouse your ire. How often he utters such complaints may depend on how you act and what you say when he does complain about his teacher.

matter and what is best to do about it. Together you and he might agree to do nothing about the matter now, but merely wait and see.

AFTER A few days, you may feel ready and fit and decide to confer with the teacher. If and when you do, you will want to observe the highest standards of social grace. Certainly you won't go to scold the teacher or abuse her. You will go to talk things over and be ready to learn all you can about your child in relation to her and his whole school program.

The teacher might be able to give you some facts about this child at school that you would wish to know about. Out of the conference, both you and she might discover means to help this child correct ways which have annoyed her. The most important thing is not to try to force the teacher to say she has done wrong, even if you are sure she has.

From what you have learned in this conference, you truly may be able to say to your child that you believe his teacher now understands him better. You might, moreover, be able to help the child understand her better.

AIM, furthermore, to help him see that the best thing he can do is to try hard to find out what his teacher expects of him and then try to measure up to her expectations. Let him know that, while you believe his teacher might make some mistakes in dealing with him, she probably is trying her best to be fair and just with him.

If, however, you finally come to the conclusion that her ways with your son are hopelessly bad, with no promise of improvement in sight, you might consider moving to another school district, or even appealing to the principal of his present school to transfer your child to another teacher.

IBOP Opens Offices For Organizing

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today it has opened an office in its former headquarters on W. 6th St. to direct an all-out organizing drive among East Liverpool district workers.

The new office is staffed by James Slaven, third vice president; C. Frank Dales, sixth vice president, and Clyde Jones, eighth vice president, assisted by Harold Hackett and Lester

Null, international representatives.

The headquarters also will be utilized as a headquarters for COPE, the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education, and for educational efforts in connection with the organizing drive and union procedures, the IBOP announced.

The IBOP asked its members to inform their friends or any member of the family who is not a member of a union to contact this headquarters. This office will be open daily until 7 p. m., it added. Persons not able to call during normal office hours may make appointments by phoning FU. 5-0575, it added.

The headquarters will distribute AFL-CIO and COPE literature on the November election, the union said.

The educational campaign for IBOP members will include instructions on the proper way of filing grievances and reports and "any other business pertaining to the union," the union said.

Opening of the office is part of the IBOP's continuing drive to organize the unorganized," the international office said. It will cover all area workers, regardless of occupation, seeking to help them "better their working conditions and improve wages and other benefits," it added.

Forestry Division Suggests Seedlings Be Ordered Now

Now is the time of year for landowners, interested in reforestation, to begin thinking about ordering trees for the spring planting season, according to the Ohio Division of Forestry at New Philadelphia.

Due to the popularity of some species for reforestation, the supply is often exhausted at an early date. This is especially true with tulip poplar which is widely planted throughout Eastern Ohio. Order early so as to be sure of receiving the species desired.

Tree planting is a popular conservation practice in this part of the state and there is an increasing amount of land being abandoned from agricultural production each year.

Much of this land is too poor to farm and if left to nature, it often slowly reverts to poorly stocked stands of hawthorn, sassafras, and dogwood. Once these areas become heavily overgrown with this brush it is often necessary to clear it before any planting can be done. However, if the land is planted before the brush becomes too heavy the initial cost will be reduced since no clearing will be necessary.

By planting trees on this poor land a crop is established that will not only develop into a cash crop later on, but it will also be providing protection to the land and improving the watershed values.

The crop of trees also provides wildlife habitat as well as recreational and aesthetic values not before obtainable from an open or brush covered field or hillside.

There are numerous species of conifers and hardwoods that grow well in Eastern Ohio. Generally it is recommended that pine be planted on the drier ridge top soils and on the south and west slopes. White pine, red pine, and Austrian pine are generally the species of pine planted.

A large number of native hardwoods adaptable to a variety of site conditions are also available for reforestation.

The Division of Forestry has available a wide selection of one to 3-year-old conifer and hardwood seedlings at a very nominal fee. Applications for these trees may be obtained from the local farm forester at New Philadelphia or the Soil Conservation Service Office or the Agricultural Extension Agent at Lisbon. A minimum order of 500 trees is necessary and they must be planted for reforestation purposes only.

U.S. Eyes Plans To Reduce Or Eliminate Silver In Coins

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury is considering proposals to reduce or eliminate the silver in silver coins, authoritative sources said today.

The change in the nation's basic silver policy would require several years. Officials apparently are undecided whether to ask Congress to merely reduce the amount of silver in coins, or to replace it with another metal.

However, there seems to be no doubt that the present high rate of coinage will consume the Treasury's stockpile in a few years.

Ironically, the recognition of a silver shortage comes shortly after Congress directed the Mint to resume production of silver dollars for the first time in 30 years. The 45 million cartwheels will contain more than 32 million ounces of silver.

The potential shortage of silver is related to the shortage of coins, but it is far more basic, long-range problem, than the temporary pinch in coins.

Treasury officials believe they have time to wrestle with the many-sided problem because government supplies total about 1.35 billion ounces. This is enough to supply non-Communist world demands for several years — but the demand is growing and officials believe action should be taken in advance of the danger point.

They have been studying the problem of changing the metal content of dimes, quarters and half-dollars — the ones that contain silver — for more than a year.

Here are some aspects of the dilemma:

An announcement that the silver content of coins would be reduced might cause more hoarding and collecting of the present silver coins.

The more drastic action of eliminating silver from coinage altogether apparently would leave a plentiful supply of the metal since the Mint is the world's biggest consumer, but it might drop the price to a point where silver producers would be discouraged.

If no action is taken, the price of silver would jump as soon as the Treasury supply is exhausted. If it rises very far above $129 it would be profitable to melt silver dollars.

3,500 Students Defying Officials At California U.

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A mob of 3,500 students continued to defy University of California officials today in a wild demonstration that included the wrecking of a police car.

The demonstration, which started Thursday morning and continued today, was in protest of a university edict banning on-campus solicitation of funds for off-campus political projects.

Expulsion of eight students Tuesday for disregarding the university rule touched off the demonstration, which several times threatened to turn into a full-scale riot.

The crowd began forming shortly after police took into custody a non-student, Jack

Weinberg, 24, and prepared to take him to police headquarters on charges of trespassing.

Police said Weinberg refused to stop soliciting funds despite several warnings.

During the demonstration, university officials said, some 25,000 other students remained in classes or away from the demonstration.

Abandoned House Set Afire For Training Of 15 Firemen

Calcutta volunteer firemen set fire to an abandoned dwelling at Cannons Mills Thursday night for training purposes, with 15 men taking part.

James Roe, owner of the four room, one-story frame home, who offered it to firemen for practice.

Firemen used four lines of hose, drawing water from a nearby creek with a portable pump for two of the lines. They also used two booster lines from their pumper and fog nozzles at various times.

Two firemen at a time donned Scott Air-Paks to enter the burning structure. Paul Miller acted as a smoke victim for rescue training. Miller and Chief Laverne Seckman demonstrated use of a pike tool. Donald Dunn was in charge of operating the pumps on the truck for the booster lines.

Taking part in the training also were Robert Barker, Norman Neal, Earl Hickman, John Morton, Paul Knox, Gary Zimmerman, Thomas Ulmer, Donald Dunn, Keith Clark, Dick Wright and Ray Neiden-gard. Wright directed traffic.

The department will send representatives to the Crucible Steel Co. fire school Saturday and the Columbiana County fire school Oct. 18 and Oct. 25 in Leontia.

City GOP Plans Fund Solicitation

Plans for the "GOP Neighbor-to-Neighbor" drive starting Monday were discussed at a meeting of East Liverpool Republicans Wednesday night at the Travelers Hotel.

Mrs. W. A. Betz will be chairing for the campaign to visit homes for contributions by a group of party volunteers. John Thompson is publicity chairman.

"By and large, Republican candidates are pledged to sound government and fiscal responsibility. We plan to point out to taxpayers that by investing in the Republican party now, they can stop the growth of government, while helping trim the state and federal budgets. The funds raised in this 'Neighbor-to-Neighbor' drive will help finance the cost of getting this message across to all voters," Mrs. Betz said.

U.S. Plane Completes Flight To Antarctica

BYRD STATION, Antarctica (AP) — A U.S. Navy transport plane touched down safely Wednesday after a 4,420-mile journey to frozen Antarctica — the first from the continent of Australia and the second longest in antarctic aviation history.

The ski-equipped 65-ton Hercules was scheduled to land at McMurdo base after the trip from Melbourne but was rerouted to Byrd Station because of bad weather. It carried a 14-man crew.

The flight was made over the south pole, where 22 U.S. scientists and Navy men are staffing Amundsen-Scott research station.

Given suspensions were Benny Brooks Woodburn, 17, of Lisbon R. D. 4, 20 days for speeding, and Richard Malone, 16, of Lisbon R. D. 3, 30 days for failing to stop within the assured clear distance. All were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Noted Composer Dies

Q. For the past two years I have had a cricket-like noise in both ears. The sound varies in intensity but never ceases. Would some type of surgery help this condition?
A. Head noise (tinnitus) is a very disturbing condition for which there is usually no successful treatment. The ringing or buzzing seems to be aggravated under emotional stress and general nervous tension. Fortunately, it often disappears with the passage of time. Meanwhile, the person bothered by head noises might try sleeping with the head slightly elevated or utilize a masking noise (such as that provided by a radio or fan) if the problem is severe enough to disturb sleep.
PRENATAL CAPSULES
Q. Is it possible to take too many calcium, protein and prenatal capsules during pregnancy? I do not drink milk.
A. Whether you do or do not drink milk it would be possible to over-dose with prenatal products. About-to-be mothers too frequently take all sorts of dietary "supplements" just to be sure junior isn't being neglected. Actually, the expectant mother would do well to take only those drugs prescribed by the physician.
Answers appearing in these columns are of necessity brief and general and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all physicians. Remember — the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

You Can Be Well-Nourished—And Slim

What is the answer to your weight problem? Is it more exercise, or less food? If you are more out of shape than actually overweight, you need exercise. If you are considerably over your best weight, obviously you should cut down somewhere on calories. Exercise will help, too.

What is weight control? It is a balance between the calories used and the energy expended. When there is a positive balance on the calorie score, you slowly but surely gain. It's insidious, this slow beginning. Had you suddenly weighed 10 pounds more, you would have rushed to your doctor. But creeping poundage... that's something else. It takes you unawares.

NOW BACK to my first question. Are you gaining weight because you are not using as many calories as you once did? Oh, not the normal decrease that nature brings about as the years go by. But have you changed your way of life so that you make less physical effort? Have you stopped walking?

If you can get out and walk a mile a day... do it. Walk a mile on a lovely day in this flamingo season. Kick at the leaves, the red and yellow leaves. Don't stay at home glued to the TV. The less you move, the less you want to move... and then, alas, the less you can move. Disuse atrophy sets in.

I quite honestly believe we are reaching the law of diminishing returns on calorie cutting. Why? Well, it takes a certain number of calories to cover the protective nutrients, the nutrients that shore up sagging tissues and take care of the replacement materials needed for a good state of nutrition. We cannot do without food.

OUR BASIC problem in the U.S.A. today is how to keep well-nourished and control weight. One reader has asked, "Which foods furnish 'empty calories'?" This inquiry comes from a homemaker who explains that her figure is too "filled out," and she wants to get acquainted with the less fattening or empty calories. A teenager asks to have "lone wolf" calories explained, perhaps thinking of them as date-bait.

Heavens, today nobody needs more empty calories! We speak so glibly of calories, but perhaps without understanding that calories are only a measure, a quantitative measure of the amount of fuel furnished in a given food. While "empty calories" sound non-fattening, they are no bargains, for they furnish little or no protection. The "lone wolf" calories are those which do not keep company with the good nutrients.

Today, calories must be curbed because we are not prolific calorie spenders. So, the emphasis must be on the best possible sources of the protective nutrients.

Nature's balanced plan for our physical well-being calls for daily exercise. What we don't use we lose... and that goes for muscle tone. As muscles go down, fat accumulates more readily. A small amount of regular exercise promotes better muscle tone and circulation. Let's get back in circulation!

Ecumenical Council Slated To Take Up Marriage Topic

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council, rapidly moving today toward the end of theological discussions at its third session, will soon take up a topic on marriage that could result in easing the written promises of non-Catholics in mixed marriages.

The council schema on marriage will delve into complicated questions of impediments to Catholic marriages, Church courts handling the dissolution of marriages, the ceremony and nature of marriage as a sacrament and the obligations of partners in mixed marriages.

The schema will not resolve the question of birth control. This is part of a separate schema on the Church in the modern world and a subject on which Pope Paul VI has promised a new study taking into account recent medical and theological investigations.

The Roman Catholic Church has long required the non-Catholic partner in a mixed marriage to sign a pledge that any children will be baptized and educated as Catholics.

Many bishops, especially from countries like the United States where catholicism is not the dominant religion, share the view of British Archbishop John C. Heenan that it should be possible for non-Catholics to agree on the Catholic upbringing of children without signing a promise.

The council also might open the way for a mixed marriage to be blessed by non-Catholic ministers as well as by the Catholic priest who solemnizes the nuptials.

Both issues — the written promise and the restriction of blessing of mixed marriages by the Catholic Church alone — are obstacles to Christian unity.

The Catholic attitude gradually has changed in recent decades. At one time mixed marriages were customarily performed only in the parish rectory.

Today they are celebrated in the church itself, though without a nuptial mass.

Other changes are likely to speed up the long delays in dissolving marriages involving Catholics. The Sacred Roman Rota, supreme tribunal of catholicism in settling marriage cases, may be extended in scope beyond the Vatican so that lesser rotas could be created in individual nations.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I always disliked the idea of plastic playpen pads because I felt they were too cold for the baby during winter and too sticky and uncomfortable in the summer. So I took four large bath towels and sewed them together along the selvages, then folded this in half and sewed up the two open sides. This made a pillowtop cover for the pad.

Then I put gripper snaps on the open side so the pad could be removed when the cover became soiled.

This cover washes easily and serves as a bottom sheet when the playpen is used as a bed away from home.

If the pad wears thin in places, wash cloths make pretty patches and add to the color.

MRS. S. E. URBAN

Dear Heloise: If there are only one or two in your family and you have the problem of using a whole package of frozen vegetables, try this:

Cut the frozen package in half and cook half of the package. Then slip the empty half of the box over the unused portion which you are going to refrigerate, and put it back in the freezer until you want it.

This saves having to warm up leftover vegetables, and will also give you more variety in your meals — since you won't be eating the same vegetable for two or more days.

MRS. JOHN LAWSON

Also, the box has the recipe on it! Keeps the rest of the contents from drying out, and makes a neat package in your freezer. Try it! It's great.

HELOISE

Dear Heloise: After I wash and rinse my throw rugs and bathmats, I leave them in the washing machine and pour the thin starch (left over from starching other clothes) over them, agitate them slightly, then use the spin dry cycle.

This small amount of starch makes the rugs lay flatter and they don't soil as rapidly.

K.M.

Dear Heloise: To eliminate my extra table leaves, I store them in their own pajamas when not in use.

These covers are simple to make — mine are of flannelette. I cut two pieces of material four or five inches larger than the leaf and sew them together on three sides, leaving one end open. I add two sets of tape ties at the open end and am in business. No more scratches.

To save space in a china cabinet, I nest all my cups together in my round vegetable bowl. I can store as many as 15 cups this way.

The tape prevents the wet metal from making contact with a beautiful counter and sink top—therefore leaves no rust stains.

HAZEL

Dear Heloise: I am a third grade teacher. On bright sunny days during the winter my pupils often want to play outside without wearing their coats.

They just can't see why not. So I installed an outdoor thermometer at a level where they could easily read it, making sure that it was located in such a way that the sun didn't shine on it.

I told the children that when the temperature was 68 or above, they didn't need to wear their coats. It works beautifully.

They make the decision for themselves.

I should think mothers who have this same problem might also find this idea helpful.

Just Like TV—Holdup, Capture In 28 Minutes

CINCINNATI (AP) — It was just like a television show when Vincent Earl Menefee robbed a finance company Thursday, police say. And the entire drama took just 28 minutes from the $1,667 hold-up to capture.

Police said Menefee, a 41-year-old unemployed Cincinnati cab driver, walked into the Mt. Washington Savings & Loan Co. with a toy pistol and ordered John Diekmann, 57, loan manager and teller, to fill a paper bag with money.

Diekmann obliged while a lone customer retreated to a back room. Menefee then herded Diekmann and another teller into the same room and dashed to his bright red car which was parked outside.

Several people saw him and gave police his description — plus part of the license number. This went out on the radio, and two detectives cruising nearby quickly forced Menefee's car to the curb.

"I guess I'm an amateur," they quoted Menefee as saying.

A.T.T. Earnings Reach New Highs

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. reported today it had record earnings during both the three-month and the 12-month periods ended Aug. 31.

The company, whose stock is owned by more persons than any other corporation, said net income for its fall quarter was $419,629,000, or 81 cents for each of its 519,416,000 outstanding shares. This was more than in any other quarter.

Net income for the 12 months was $1,597,618,000, or $3.19 a share, the greatest figure for any 12-month period.

The earnings figures compared with $383,148,777, or 78 cents a share, for the fall quarter of 1963, and $1,441,958,000, or $2.96 a share, in the 12-months ended in August 1963.

2 Policemen Indicted For Accepting Bribe

CLEVELAND (AP) — An indictment charging two suspended Cleveland policemen with soliciting and accepting a $10 bribe in a traffic case has been returned by the Cuyahoga County grand jury. Conviction carries a sentence of from 1 to 20 years in prison.

Indicted Thursday were Wayne Airey, 36, and Stanley Olbrys, 34. They were accused of asking Orville Pryor, an Ohio University student, for a bribe Aug. 24. One of two marked $5 bills Pryor allegedly threw in the policemen's cruiser was found in Airey's wallet.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Hitchcock Prefers His Own Kibitzing

The master huckster of the horrendous, Alfred Hitchcock switches from CBS to NBC next week for a second time—a fact which leaves him emotionally unmoved. (He'll be on Channels 7 and 11 at 10 p. m. Monday.) "They're only initials to me," he reiterates a n y time the subject arises.

Hal Humphrey

His bolting from CBS this second time was the result of an impasse between him and CBS-TV President James Aubrey. The latter wanted complete control over what Hitchcock put into his weekly suspense hour.

"NEXT YEAR I will be celebrating my 40th year as a director," says Hitchcock unassumingly, "so why should Mr. Aubrey know more about what should be in the shows than I?"

Certainly no one else but Aubrey has suggested that Hitchcock needed advice when it comes to presenting suspense drama. He has survived nine seasons on TV, a miraculous feat which puts Hitchcock right up there with such venerable stars as Ed Sullivan and Ozzie Nelson.

There is no doubt that much of Hitchcock's success on TV can be traced to his being a kind of running character as the host of the series. Hitchcock's prologues, epilogues and disdainful introductions to the commercial interruptions have given it the special identity which weekly drama apparently must have to last on TV.

JAMES ALLARDICE, the former Canton, Ohio comedy writer who joined Hitchcock at the beginning of his TV career in 1956, still is with him, writing joke lines which would be sick coming from anyone but the deft, sophisticated man whose elliptical profile has become a worldwide trademark.

Mix these ingredients with Hitchcock's unerring formula for keeping an audience awake, and there is the answer to the success of the "Alfred Hitchcock Hour" on TV.

"I still believe the suspense show must be treated as a nightmare," says Hitchcock. "And nightmares, you know, are very vivid affairs. That's why you remember them, but there's also why they must be done accurately and in detail."

"I CAN'T GET American writers to take this stuff seriously enough. The British approach it quite seriously and with dignity. We have 23 of the 29 scripts required for this new season, but I'm having a hard job finding the last six."

One of Hitchcock's favorite tales of the macabre he can't get the TV censors to pass. It deals with a mysterious fellow who rents a house for himself and his wife. He asks the landlord's permission to cut down 12 larch trees surrounding the house.

A few days later the wife is missing, but no one is the wiser until an Oxford professor makes the tantalizing discovery that the fellow has ordered "Two Bottles of Relish" of a type an ordinary person would not consume one bottle of in a year.

"KNOWING THIS about the relish, our professor realizes quite quickly that the fellow has eaten his wife up," says Hitchcock, matter of factly, but delightfully, "and the tree cutting was to whet his appetite."

Serving up shock without suspense to an audience is unforgivable bad manners in Hitchcock's cookbook of horror.

"Two people can be sitting at a table carrying on a rather dull conversation and suddenly a bomb under the table goes off," says the master. "This gives the audience one second of shock."

"But show the audience a bomb under the table and a clock mechanism revealing it will go off in five minutes, and the conversation is no longer dull. Instead, the audience gets five minutes of beautiful suspense."

Does Hitchcock have any favorite modus operandi for suspense plots?

"Yes indeed. There is nothing better than a cement cellar, or a good bomb," he recommends, quite seriously.

2 Men, Girl Killed In One-Car Accident

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—Three persons were killed early today in a one-car accident on Ohio 76 just south of Grafton Prison Farm.

The Highway Patrol identified two of the dead as Paris G. Davis, 32, of Lorain, driver of the car, and Calvin Bennett, 40, of Kent.

Officers said the third victim was identified by relatives of the two men as both Juanita Carpenter and Juanita McCartney, of Webster City, W. Va. She was 18 years old.

Davis' 18-month-old son, Gordon, was admitted to Elyria Memorial Hospital in serious condition with head injuries and a compound fracture of the left leg.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cuyahoga County Board of Elections, following its three-month inquiry into voting irregularities in the May primary, has banned 35 election booths officials from future service as poll workers. The board's action Thursday was based on evidence it had of ballot tampering, double- and marked ballots which voided votes and testimony that both Republican and Democratic ballots to every voter entering voting booths.

Burglars Hit Beauty Salon And Foundry

Police are continuing investigation of burglaries discovered Wednesday at an East End foundry and a downtown beauty salon.

Intruders entered the Lane Foundry on State St., owned by Velma Lane, 3242 St. Clair Ave., and Jimmy Dale's Beauty Salon, 637 St. Clair Ave., owned by Jimmy Dale, officers reported.

At the foundry, the burglars removed two Black & Decker grinders valued at $115 each. They also took two radios owned by an employee, Gerald Kelly, of Wellsville R.D. 1.

Police said entry was gained via a window in the rear of the plant, near a hillside. One of the grinders was brand new, equipped with an abrasive wheel. The other is smaller, equipped with a wire brush. Both were taken from the finish grinding bench.

Theft of the grinders was discovered by Robert Windell, an employee. The loss is not covered by insurance, officers said. The entry was timed between 8:30 p.m. Wednesday and 8 a.m. Thursday. The report of the investigation was filed at 10:30 a.m. yesterday by Patrolman Orin C. Smith.

In the beauty shop entry, the intruder stole a white uniform from a clothes rack and removed from a filing cabinet two checks made out in small amounts to Dale, officers said. The intruder broke a 24-x-36-inch pane of glass in a rear door and then reached through the opening to manipulate the latch. The investigation report was filed at 9:55 a.m. yesterday by Patrolman Jerry Adkins. He said the shop was entered sometime Wednesday night or early Thursday.

Repair Crews Clear

Tracks In Derailment

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Baltimore & Ohio railroad repair crews worked through the night to clear the tracks of cars left standing when an eastbound freight train derailed Thursday night.

Four diesel engines and three cars left the rails and one of the locomotives plunged almost through the plant of the Champion Bridge Co. whose employees had left for the night.

No one was seriously injured in the accident and there was no immediate estimate of damages.

Sheriff Donald L. Osborn of Clinton County said the freight, which was on its way to Newark hit an open switch. The train then plunged down a siding and the derailed units crossed a street to the factory building. One of the diesels protruded from the building's other side, Osborn said.

The first all - professional baseball team in history was the Cincinnati Red Stockings, formed in 1869.

1 Killed, 1 Injured

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—Unable to move or speak, David Ady, 19, lay in the wreckage of his car with a dead man nearby for several hours before help came Thursday afternoon.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said the accident near Middlefield may have happened some time Wednesday night. The car left the highway at a curve, went down a steep embankment, hit another embankment and bounced under a bridge near the intersection of Ohio 528 and Old State Road.

The wreckage was spotted by Marion Cooper, 50, of Middlefield, who was picking butter-nuts. Ady, from Champion, was in the front of the car. The body of Otis Davenport, 22, of Canton, was lying halfway out the passenger's side.

Humphrey Says Goldwater Desperately Seeks An Issue

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey drove into Southern California today saying that Barry Goldwater "knows he faces a crushing defeat" and is "desperately looking for an issue that will strike lightning."

Humphrey, in remarks prepared for students at the University of Southern California, charged that Goldwater plunged "to the depths of political cynicism" by accusing the Johnson administration of being soft on communism.

"This is the cry of a desperate political man," said the Democratic vice-presidential nominee. "This is the cry of a man who knows he faces a crushing defeat."

Humphrey said Goldwater "admitted to reporters that he brought up the charge to wait for reaction before deciding whether to exploit it for political gain."

"In other words," said the Minnesotan, "he is desperately looking for an issue that will strike lightning and win him votes."

This is Humphrey's first campaign trip into the big vote-rich state that both Republicans and Democrats view as a key to their November fortunes.

California gave 50.1 per cent of its vote to Republican Richard M. Nixon, a native Californian, in 1960.

It provided the final rung up for Goldwater to the party's presidential nomination when he rode a crest of Southern California votes to defeat Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in the state's primary.

Today and Saturday Humphrey intends to travel through the state from Los Angeles in the south to San Francisco in the north.

The Minnesotan covered some 1,700 miles Thursday as he stopped off in North Dakota, Montana and Washington — all of which were in the GOP column in the presidential results four years ago.

2 Missing Girls Had Made Plans To Visit England

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Heights police chief Edward F. Gaffney says two missing Beatle-struck girls apparently made plans in July for a visit to England.

The chief said Thursday night two torn-up letters dated July 3 were found in a waste-basket in the room of one of the girls, Janice Hawkins.

One apparently was the first draft of a letter to Brian Epstein, manager of the British performers. Chief Gaffney said. That letter asked Epstein to help Miss Hawkins and her friend, Martha Schendel, get jobs in England.

The second letter was addressed to a Miss Annabelle Smith, 93-97 Regent St., London, and told of the girls' plans to visit London in September.

The two girls disappeared Sept. 16, the day after the Beatles made an appearance here. No trace of the girls has been found in England.

Wellsville Girl Scout Group Aims Forming Of More Units

Ways of organizing more Girl Scout troops were discussed at a meeting of the service team of Wellsville Girl Scout Neighborhood Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Bunfill, troop consultant.

Mrs. Marilyn DeFalco, troop organizer, will contact the local schools to ascertain the number of girls from 7 to 17 and Mrs. Bunfill will compile a list of former leaders and workers in Wellsville.

Miss Irene Cross of Martins Ferry, District 3 adviser of the Upper Ohio Valley Girl Scout Council, met with the service team to assist and offer suggestions to solve the problems.

She will speak at the October meeting of the Garfield Parent-Teacher Association and will also attend the Wellsville Neighborhood Girl Scout meeting Wednesday night at 8 at the First Methodist Church. Mrs. Bunfill will be in charge of the program of arts and crafts at the neighborhood meeting.

It was reported that two new troops have been organized. Brownie 75, now 549, meeting every Wednesday at 4 p.m. at the Jaycee Hall with Mrs. Harriet Lanam as leader and Brownie 1, now 540, Wednesdays at 3 p.m. at the Covenant United Presbyterian Church with Mrs. Marjorie Kinzel as leader.

Girls of Brownie age in these areas may join. Miss Jane Morris, neighborhood chairman, reported that she had attended the kickoff dinner of District 3 Sept. 22 at the Weirton Community Center.

Survey Shows Farmland Gets More Expensive

WASHINGTON (AP)—American farmland is getting more expensive despite drought, rising production costs and slipping prices and farm income, an Agriculture Department survey showed today.

The market value of farm real estate advanced 6 per cent in the 12-month period that ended July 1, matching the percentage increase of the preceding 12-month period.

The national average value of farm land per acre climbed to a new record high.

The department said the market value of farm real estate on July 1 was about $155 billion, up about $9 billion over a year earlier. The average value per acre was estimated at $141, up $7 over a year earlier.

All states showed increases in leading with 12 per cent. In Ohio, land values increased seven per cent.

The explanation given by the department for the continued rise in land prices: Less and less income from agriculture is needed to pay labor because of increasing use of machinery. This encourages farm enlargements.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I know this doesn't sound very good but the only way I can get straight advice is to tell you the whole truth, so I will.

My boss, who is an important executive, is separated but not divorced. He has taken an interest in me and wants to get to know me better.

We can't talk in the office for obvious reasons. He says it would be damaging to my reputation if I were seen in public with him since he still is married. Last week he suggested we have dinner in a small motel outside the city limits and just talk. I agreed.

We have gone to this motel twice. You have my word nothing out of the way has happened. I think it's wonderful of him to be so considerate of my reputation but I feel uncomfortable checking into a motel with a man, even though I know in my heart I'm not doing anything wrong.

I'm reluctant to tell him "no more motel" because he may stop seeing me and I've grown fond of him. I need your help. —DOLLY.

Hello Dolly: I've often wondered what happened to Sir Galahad. Now I know. You've got him! How lucky can one girl get? It's not every man who will invest in a motel room to protect a girl's reputation.

Naturally everyone in the world is blind so no one sees you go into the motel or leave. His car, of course, is invisible, so no one sees that either. Now it's your turn to be considerate of him. Tell him you are concerned about HIS reputation and that the after-hours friendship is off until he is free.

Mama's Boy

Dear Ann: My husband's sister has been married to a loafer for 19 years.

He will not try to get a steady job and every few months he walks out and moves in with his mother. This has been going on for years but today was the last straw. He left his family with no food and no electricity.

I want to call the child welfare department and get help for the children. My sister-in-law doesn't want the "disgrace" of being on welfare. Would I be justified in calling them anyway?

We have a family of our own and can't support their family, too. But the sight of those children makes me sick. — CON-CERNED.

Dear Concerned: Don't call the welfare agency over the objections of your husband's sister. Try to persuade her to ask for help. And talk to your brother-in-law, too. Let him know that there is a law which says a man must support his family.

Barred And Scarred

Dear Ann: I will be 13 years old soon. I act older and am considered mature. My sister, who will be 16 next month, is very jealous of me because I'm prettier than she is.

My sister gets to have a boy-girl party on her 16th birthday. I'm allowed to say hello to the guests and stay in the living room with them for 20 minutes. Then I have to go to my room.

Isn't this the meanest thing you ever heard of in your whole life? I'm sure my sister is afraid I will take some attention away from her. Please be on my side. — MISS PERSECUTED.

Dear Miss: A 12-year-old does not belong at a party for 16-year-olds, even though she considers herself mature. Being an older sister means added responsibilities and extra privileges. Your mother has shown good judgment.

Head Injuries Fatal

CLEVELAND (AP)—A head injury he suffered while clearing trees in Independence with a bulldozer was fatal to Carl N. Sneider, 42, of Peninsula.

Firemen To Hold Dance Series At Hall In Glenmoor

Glenmoor volunteer firemen will sponsor a series of round and square dances starting Saturday night at the fire hall. George Hamilton's band will provide music for the dances from 9 to midnight.

At Thursday night's meeting, Chief Kenneth Mills announced he will inspect all Glenmoor business establishments during Fire Prevention Week of observance next week. He is to be contacted by anyone interested.

Firemen held a lengthy discussion on state fire laws pertaining to public and emergency vehicles.

The department reminded that state law requires autos to pull aside and yield the right-of-way to emergency vehicles such as fire trucks, and remain 500 feet behind at all times. Firemen said this precaution might prevent an auto from hitting a man who might happen to fall from the truck when it hits a bump.

A few weeks ago, a motorist passed a fire truck on an emergency run and was arrested and fined, firemen said.

Cards Were Choice Here . . .

With only three days of the torrid baseball season remaining, things as they stand today could be final. Back in April we made our annual selections and for once may have picked the National League winner. We selected St. Louis in the Senior Circuit and it appears the Cards have it wrapped up as only the lowly Mets stand in their way.

We were off base on our second selection, since the Dodgers finished seventh. We had the Phillies in third place and the Reds in fourth.

While you should follow the golden rule of baseball—never bet against the Yanks—we didn't. We took a longshot on Minnesota and lost, with the powerful Twins finishing far down the line in sixth place.

Our picks showed New York second, Chicago third and Detroit fourth and Baltimore fifth.

DISAPPOINTING from our standpoint was the attendance at Cincinnati for the first two nights of the series. A crowd slightly over 10,000 was on hand Tuesday, with only 8,188 the second night.

Wednesday's game can be marked down as one of the finest ever played as the Pirates won a 16-inning affair which left many baseball fans in the area yawning Thursday morning.

In contrast, while the Reds and Pirates were playing to a small crowd, more than 24,000 were on hand in St. Louis.

We understand Cincinnati telecasts its home games, but it seems interest is sadly lacking in the Queen City.

SPEAKING of attendance we see where only 306 showed up for Cleveland's game at Boston Thursday, a new all-time low for Fenway Park.

BG's Perry Winningest Coach . . .

SPORTS Illustrated has an article on Bowling Green's Doyt Perry, pointing out that the Falcon mentor is the winningest coach in the nation.

Perry leads the major schools with an .860 percentage, showing 68 wins, 9 losses and 5 ties for an amazing mark.

If you are wondering where Woody Hayes of Ohio State ranks, he is fifth among the nation's football coaches. Fans will complain of his unattractive offense, but his percentage leaves little to be desired. Woody has a .733 mark with 116 victories, 40 defeats and 7 ties.

Second in the nation is John Vaught of Mississippi, while Nebraska's Bob Devaney ranks third and Dan Devine of Missouri fourth.

Warren Woodson of New Mexico State ranks 14th, but he has been at it longer and shows the greatest number of victories, 211, as against 98 losses and 19 deadlocks.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

LAST WEEK'S football selections hit a new all-time high in this corner, with 12 right, one wrong and one tie in local high school games.

The lone miss came when Sebring defeated East Palestine. The tie was played between Midland and Beaver.

As far as tonight's games are concerned, we feel the Potters will be put to the test again against an improved New Philly team but we're picking East Liverpool by a touchdown over the Quakers.

Triadelphia may end Oak Glen's three-game winning streak tonight at Newell. We like the visitors by one T.D. Jefferson Union is our pick over Beaver Local in what should be a close contest.

United, with Moe Metzlar in high gear, should win over Springfield Local of Mahoning County. Springfield of Jefferson County gets our nod over Stanton Local and Salem should win its first over West Branch.

In Tri-County action, we will take Poland over Lisbon, East Palestine to edge Leetonia and Minerva to top Columbiana.

Four games are on tap for Saturday. Wellsville looks like the winner over Southern Local, while Brad-dock should register a victory over a scrappy Midland team. In others, Serra Catholic has the edge on South Side and North Lima should down Crestview.

A DREAM came true for four local, ardent tennis fans when they attended the Davis Cup competition Sunday at Cleveland. This was one of the best matches in their history.

The girls are Maxine Skaleski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Skaleski of Route 20 Sherwood; Debbie Webber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Webber of Broadview Circle, and Mary Ann and Sue Ann Rogers, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Rogers of Cadmus St.

The girls are freshmen at Kent State University and plan to participate in Tennis there.

A LOCAL woman bowler was honored earlier this week when Mrs. Lottie Hunt, secretary of the Ohio Women's Bowling Association presented a medal to Doris Calhoun of East Liverpool for bowling the highest actual three game series in the State tournament. Doris bowled a 542 series highest for women with a bowling average of 119 and below.

Herman Is Named Boston Manager

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox fired Johnny Pesky as manager today and named third-base coach Billy Herman as his successor.

The news came in a statement from Mike Higgins, vice president and general manager whom Pesky had followed as field pilot two years ago.

Higgins said Herman had been signed to a two-year contract. Salary terms were not disclosed.

Pesky had been hired on a season-to-season basis.

Herman, one of the great second basemen in the National League with the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers, 1931-46, had his only other big league managerial opportunity in 1947. He was acquired by Pittsburgh in a multi-player swap with the Boston Braves that year. Under his partial season direction the Pirates wound up in a seventh place tie.

Herman, a Red Sox coach since 1960, takes over a team which has finished deep in the second division for six straight years and is now in eighth place—lowest under the three decades of Thomas A. Yawkey's ownership.

Herman, 55, holds several major league and national circuit records as a second baseman although he also had brief stints at third and first as a player. His lifetime batting average was .304 highlighted by a .341 at Chicago in 1935.

He played in four World Series and batted .433 in 10 all-star games.

Potters-New Philly Meet For 42nd Time

Even Battle Expected In Local Game

An even battle is expected tonight at Patterson Field when East Liverpool and New Philadelphia meet on the gridiron for the 42nd time. Kickoff is set for 7:45 p. m.

Both teams enter tonight's game with 2-1 records but the Quakers still hold a good edge over the Potters in games played between the two schools.

Even though East Liverpool has won the last six contests, New Philly will enter tonight's battle with a 24-17 edge in victories while one game finished in a deadlock.

The last time East Liverpool lost to New Philly was 1957 when the Quakers scored a 20-12 victory but since that time it has been the Potters all the way.

Coach Al Christopher would like to be able to turn the trick this year since he hasn't beaten an East Liverpool squad in his four seasons at New Philly.

The Quakers show victories over Wooster, 16-6 and West Holmes, 48-0 while losing to Lou Venditti's Canton Lincoln eleven by a 36-6 score.

Venditti rates tailback Dave Moreland, a 206-pound junior as the key to the Quaker attack while Larry Denmon, a 155-pound wing back can be a threat with his speed.

The Quakers can start seven lettermen tonight most of whom saw action in last year's 20-0 loss to the Potters. In this game, there was no score for three quarters with the Potters breaking the contest wide open with three touchdowns in the fourth period.

Coach Bob McNea has worked most of the week sharpening his defense, something which was sadly lacking last week when Steubenville Central handed the Potters a 42-18 setback.

One change in the Potter lineup tonight will show Mike Goodballet going to left halfback for the injured Ralph Smith who is expected to be back next week. Smith suffered a deep cut in his leg during the Central game.

Coker Leads 5-4 Victory; It's Up To Mets Now

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gene Mauch has run out of moves, except downward perhaps, but Johnny Keane and Dick Sisler still have time to maneuver their teams into the National League pennant.

Cincinnati's Sisler made a key move Thursday night, deciding to use reserve catcher Jim Coker instead of regular John Edwards, who hurt his hand the night before.

Coker responded with a single, a double and his first home run of the season, sparking the Reds to a 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh that moved Cincinnati to within one-half game of Keane's first-place St. Louis Cardinals, who were idle.

Coker's second-inning single drove in the Reds' first run after 34 scoreless innings. He doubled and scored in the fourth, then snapped a 3-3 deadlock with his homer off Steve Blass in the sixth. That put Cincinnati ahead to stay.

The 28-year-old catcher has been the property of six major league teams since he reached the majors in 1958. The Reds purchased him from Denver of the Pacific Coast League Aug. 23. Before Thursday night, Coker had played in nine games and batted .280 with two runs batted in.

There was no immediate word on whether Coker or Edwards would be in the line-up tonight when the Reds play their next-to-the-last game of the season against Mauch's once-potent Philadelphia Phillies.

The Phillies still are working on a 10-game losing streak and conceivably could tumble into fourth place behind San Francisco.

While the Reds are battling Philadelphia, the Cardinals, winners of eight straight, will play the lowly New York Mets. If the Reds win their two remaining games, the Cardinals would have to win all three of theirs to finish first.

St. Louis can eliminate the Phillies and the Giants from the race by beating the Mets tonight.

In other NL games Thursday, San Francisco trimmed Houston 6-3, Milwaukee whipped New York 7-3 and Chicago nipped Los Angeles 4-3.

The Reds scored the decisive run in the seventh inning on a triple by Vada Pinson that Jerry Lynch couldn't handle in left field and Frank Robinson's double. The Pirates rallied for one in the eighth as Dick Schofield doubled and Bill Virdon singled.

Sammy Ellis relieved Joe Nuxhall, though, and snuffed out the Pirates' threat. Nuxhall, 9-8, had taken over from starter Bob Purkey after Roberto Clemente singled across two runs in the fifth.

Juan Marichal won his 21st game even though he gave up 10 hits to the Colts. Tom Haller backed Marichal, who had lost eight times, with a homer and a run-scoring single in a four-run third inning. Willie Mays singled in two runs in the outburst.

Magic Number Is Two

Tigers Delay Celebration Of Yanks By Taking Pair

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
That little old champagne taster, Yogi Berra, still is manipulating numbers today after the New York Yankees' pennant express ran afoul of the Detroit Tigers.

Berra, who has become accustomed to the taste of that bubbly stuff almost every fall in his 17 years as a Yankee, was all ready for his annual sip after New York swept two from Detroit Wednesday, reducing their magic number to two.

But the Tigers turned right around and knocked off the Bombers 4-2 and 5-2 Thursday delaying the clinching of New York's 29th pennant at least another day. If the Yankees whip Cleveland and Kansas City takes Chicago, Yogi can whoop it up again. But Berra isn't depending on the A's.

Two Yankee victories in the three-game set with the Indians will end all the speculation and that's what Yogi is shooting for.

The runners-up aren't dropping by the wayside themselves as evidenced by Baltimore's 2-0 blanking of Washington Thursday which kept the Orioles chance to tie alive. So, figures Berra, the best way to wrap it up is for the Yankees to win two.

Of course if the Athletics care to cooperate by knocking off Chicago or Detroit happens to go to Baltimore tonight, Yogi will gladly accept the help.

The Tigers weren't much help Thursday, coming from behind in the ninth to pull out the opener against rookie Mel Stottlemyre and then getting a six-hitter from rookie Dennis McLain to win the nightcap.

Dave McNally permitted just one hit—a seventh-inning double by Don Lock—in blanking the Senators for Baltimore.

In other American League games, Dick Radatz made his 78th appearance and chalked up his 25th save as Boston dropped Cleveland 4-2, and Kansas City got a 12th-inning homer from rookie Larry Stahl to whip Minnesota 5-4.

Stottlemyre nursed a 2-1 lead through eight innings of the opener against the Tigers. But Detroit loaded the bases in the ninth and Gates Brown's single knocked in the tying and lead runs. Don Wert's sacrifice fly produced another as Mickey Lolich picked up his 18th victory.

It was Brown again in the nightcap scoring two of the three runs off loser Rollie Sheldon. He scored on a wild pitch in the second and rode home on Wert's triple after his second straight single in the fourth.

McNally had a no-hitter for 6.23 innings before Lock's shot broke it up. A walk and a wild pitch put the runners in scoring position but McNally escaped the jam by getting Ken Hunt on a long fly.

The victory left the Orioles one percentage point back of second-place Chicago which was idle.

Colts Picked Over Rams; Steelers Rated Underdogs

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Johnny Unitas and Baltimore's new-found running punch will provide the acid test for that bruising defense unit of the Los Angeles Rams in one of the most interesting games on the weekend pro football program.

The Colts, who have not lost to the Rams in Baltimore since 1955, are coming off a 52-0 rout of the Chicago Bears that aroused title hopes in Baltimore. They lead the league in scoring and have the No. 1 passer in Unitas, who has been intercepted only once and has thrown seven touchdowns.

Harland Sfafe's front four on defense were likened to "Dempsey, Firpo, Ruth and Gehrig" by Minnesota's (Dutch) Van Brocklin last week after losing to the Rams 22-13. He didn't say which was which among Lamar Lundy, Merlin Olsen, Deacon Jones and Rosey Grier.

The batting average picked up last week with nine out of 11, making the NFL season total 11-8-2 and the American Football League total 7-4 for a combined 18-12-2.

With an eye for some upsets, let's try again, all Sunday games unless otherwise noted:

Army And Navy Stars Ailing For Saturday Tilts

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Three of the top college football games scheduled this week-end are clouded by the questionable status of key quarterbacks — Rolfe Stichweh of Army, Roger Staubach of Navy and Jimmy Sidle of Auburn.

Staubach, the 1963 Heisman Trophy winner, and Stichweh both are reported ailing from ankle injuries, but last-minute indications are that both will play.

Sidle, ace of Auburn's unbeaten and seventh-ranked team, has an injured shoulder to take into an important Southeastern Conference match with Kentucky, author of the biggest upset of the young season.

The action gets under way tonight with three major games on schedule: Cincinnati at Detroit, New Mexico at Brigham Young and Furman at George Washington.

Possibly the top match on Saturday's program has sixth-ranked Navy visiting eighth-ranked Michigan. The Wolverines, one of the top choices in the Big Ten, have a powerful ground game to throw at the Midgies, who build their attack around the multi-talented Mr. Staubach.

Army, unbeaten in two games, visits Austin, Tex., for both the Cadets' first-ever night game and their first encounter with Texas, the defending national champs, currently top-ranked and unscored on in two starts.

The mighty Longhorns, who play possession ball and just grind it out, are two-touchdown favorites over Paul Dietzel's three-platoon team. Stichweh, big gun in the Army attack, was injured in a victory over Boston College last week.

Alabama, ranked fourth in the nation, and an easy winner in two starts, is a top-heavy favorite against Vanderbilt at Birmingham, Ala., Saturday night.

The Midwest has a corner on much of the major action. In addition to Navy at Michigan, there's Southern California at

2 Play It Cool To Share Lead In Fresno Golf

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — The mercury soared and the wind came up, but Jack McGowan and Al Balding played it cool to breeze into the second round of the $35,000 Fresno Open Golf Tournament today with a two-stroke edge on their nearest opponent.

And defending champion Mason Rudolph, with a bogey-ridden first-round 77, was a full 10 strokes back. The other tournament favorites were little better off.

McGowan, a wiry little tiger from Toledo, Ohio, made his score by reeling off five consecutive birdies on the front side, then filled the rest of his card with steady pars.

Balding toured the slightly more difficult back side in four under 32 and had only one bogey on his card.

Edward Wheaton, whose last address was W. Clark St., waived a preliminary hearing yesterday before County Judge Herbert Arfman on the charge filed by Mrs. Sandra Wheaton of State Line Rd.

She claimed he fired a pistol at her car Wednesday night after they had an argument at the home of a woman friend of his in New Waterford.

She said he had held the pistol to her face, and when she got into her car and drove away, he fired at the auto. He said he fired into the air "to scare her."

Gosney Attacks GOP

On Plan For Route 62

SALEM — County Democratic Chairman Don R. Gosney declared last night that Republicans are "selling Columbiana County down the river" by promoting plans to relocate U. S. Route 62 north of Salem.

Speaking to the Columbiana County AFL-CIO Labor Council in Steelworkers Hall, Gosney said that the State Highway Department's plans to relocate the route north of Alliance and Salem "will be a definite loss" to the county.

He pointed out that Mahoning County, in which Route 62 is to be relocated, except for a small portion in Columbiana County near Salem, already has routes 14, 224, 18 and 422 and the Ohio Turnpike and that "Columbiana County is left with only Routes 45 and 30." Gosney declared that Route 62 belongs in Columbiana County because it would give the county two east-west highways and could join up the Lake-to-River Freeway.

Driver Hurt When Vehicle Upsets, Burns

A Lisbon area driver was hospitalized early this morning when his station wagon overturned and burst into flames near Columbiana in one of three district mishaps reported today and Thursday by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Ronald Randolph, 20, of Lisbon R. D. 2 was taken to Salem City Hospital with lacerations of the back of the head, forehead and face suffered when thrown out of the vehicle along Route 164 about two miles south of Columbiana at 1:15 a. m.

Officers said Randolph was headed south when the 1957 station wagon veered off a curve on the right side and overturned twice into a cornfield. The vehicle was destroyed by the blaze, the patrol said.

Randolph, who was to be released from the hospital later today, faces a charge of driving too fast for road conditions.

Edwin Copeland, 44, of Millport, U.S. Weather observer, escaped injury when his car collided with a pickup truck on Route 30 a mile west of Lisbon yesterday.

James Gromley, 74, of Salem R. D. 3, traveling west, made a left turn in front of Copeland's car which hit the right rear of the truck. Gromley was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Richard Earl Hoffee, 27, of Lisbon R. D. 4 was arrested for driving left of center after his truck sideswiped a car on County Rd. 408 last night near Guilford Lake.

The patrol said his truck sideswiped an eastbound car operated by John Hardgrove, 32, of Salem R. D. 3. Neither was injured.

Fire Warden Issues

Reminder On Permits

A reminder of the need to obtain burning permits for kindling outdoors fires during October and November was issued today by Harry W. Smith of Dixonville, fire warden.

Smith said heavy vegetation is now dry and will be made tinder dry following fall frosts, and safeguards are required to prevent damaging brush blazes.

Permits are obtainable without cost from authorized wardens. Persons may burn in closed containers with wiring on top without permits. Wire baskets are not considered closed containers, however, Smith said.

Packers Lose No. 1 Guard

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Jerry Kramer, the Green Bay Packers' all-pro offensive guard, says he may miss the remainder of the National Football League season as a result of surgery.

The 28-year-old Kramer said Thursday night that in the second abdominal operation within a week physicians had found and drained a growth about the size of a grapefruit on his liver.

He said he may be able to return for some limited duty before the season is over. Physicians have promised him a 100 per cent recovery, he said, and anticipate that next season he will be able to "eat opponents alive."

Hospitalized since Sept. 23, when exploratory surgery was performed, Kramer said he might be released from the hospital next week. If Sunday's weather is good, he may be allowed to go to City Stadium for the Packers' game with the Minnesota Vikings.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING — Dave McNally, Baltimore, allowed only one hit — Don Lock's two-out double in the seventh — as Orioles defeated Washington 2-0 and kept alive in the American League pennant race.

HEATING EQUIPMENT

HEATING EQUIPMENT

HEATING EQUIPMENT

When you think of GAS OR OIL HEATING think of IRON FIREMAN

Buying heating equipment is a big step for any family. Naturally you want to get the best possible value for your money... but never judge heating equipment on purchase price alone. Too many so-called "bargains" turn out to be the most expensive in the end. Iron Fireman oil and gas heating equipment is built to give you service; it is built to give you years of luxurious comfort with outstanding fuel savings. It is not the lowest priced nor the highest—but in the long run it is by far your best dollar value.

Good installation is equally important. Our men are carefully selected, well equipped and factory trained. We will see that you get the full measure of comfort and fuel economy that is built into Iron Fireman equipment.

A Junior Editors Quiz About
COINS

QUESTION: Where do missing coins go?

ANSWER: We need to have a huge number of coins circulating in our prosperous country to keep our businesses and industries going. At least one billion, 775 million dollars worth of coins are in circulation. This may seem like plenty, but many coins are being withdrawn from active use at all times. Children save them in piggy banks; coin collectors keep them in their collections; many are lost and many become worn or defaced. When this last happens, the banks turn them in to the government. The worn coins are sent to one of the two United States mints, one located in Denver, Colorado, and one in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, so that these coins may be melted down and the metal used in the stamping of new ones. This manufacturing of new coins provides for those being taken out of circulation and keeps enough circulating so we can get change from paper money whenever we need it. In the two mints, silver dollars, half dollars, quarters and dimes are stamped out of silver, five cent pieces out of nickel and one cent pieces out of bronze.

FOR YOU TO DO: Get a book on coins and learn the history of different United States coins, where to look for the mint marks and the different grades of coins. Attend a coin meeting at the YMCA on the second Tuesday of each month and look at some old and rare coins.
